City Has Second Traffic Death in Two Days

3 Fatales Occur in Dutchess

Michael L. Devine Is Friday Victim

A 69-year-old local man became the second man to die on a city street in the past two nights when he succumbed following a traffic mishap Friday. He was the 11th fatality in Ulster County in 1962.

Dutchess County's 1962 traffic death toll was hiked from 28 to 31 Friday when three persons were killed in two traffic accidents in that county.

Michael L. Devine, 69, of 68 McEntee Street was pronounced dead on arrival at Kingston Hospital after being struck by a car while crossing east to west on Wurts Street at the intersection with Spring Street according to reports at Police Headquarters. William F. Seitz, 64, of 367 Hasbrouck Avenue died Thursday night after being struck by a car while crossing Hasbrouck Avenue. He was the first traffic fatality in this city since April 10, 1961.

Devine reportedly suffered injuries about the head, left side and hip and miscellaneous injuries. Ulster County Coroner Francis J. McCordle said that the cause of death verdict is pending a post mortem examination. Reports say that Devine was fatally injured when he walked in front of a car being operated by Freeman J. Kilquist, 53, of 86 Pine Grove Avenue approximately 15 feet from the east curb of Wurts Street. He was taken to the hospital by a Fatum's Ambulance.

Investigating at the scene were Detectives William Slover and Leonard Ellsworth and Patrolmen Anthony Turck, Otto Short, Wilmont Hall and William Whelan.

Operators of two vehicles were killed at 9:45 p. m. Friday when their cars collided head-on on Route 52 about 500 feet west of Taconic Parkway, Dutchess County. State Police Sergeant George Erskine, Fishkill, identified the dead as Susan A. Goodwin, 19, of 70 Glenwood Avenue, Poughkeepsie, and Erwin H. Schmidt, 28, Route 52, Hopewell Junction.

Truck Leaves Road
Roy Gundersen, 46, of 38 Washington Street, Poughkeepsie, was killed at 1:15 p. m. Friday, when a panel truck in which he was riding veered off Route 9 about one-half mile south of the Hyde Park shopping center, struck a stone wall and spun around and crashed into a tree.

Passengers in Miss Goodwin's car and their injuries were: June Elizabeth Bowers, 19, of 287 Hooker Avenue, Poughkeepsie, back and head injuries; Janice Lee Bowers, 18, same address, lacerations over her left eye, mouth, fractured jaw and left hip and internal injuries; Rosanne Cerniglia, 17, of 80 Whittier Boulevard, Poughkeepsie, fractured jaw; Mary Bridget Lamb, 17, of 152 Parker Avenue, Poughkeepsie, cerebral concussion, lacerations of the head and pavement burns.

Sergeant Erskine told The Freeman that Miss Goodwin was driving east on Route 52 and Schmidt was traveling in the opposite direction, when Schmidt's car crossed the center line at high speed and crashed into the left front of the Goodwin vehicle.

Federal Holdup Blamed for Road Bids Postponement
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Public Works Department blames a "delay in the release of federal funds" for postponement of most of the highway bid openings the state had scheduled for October.

Superintendent J. Burch McMoran said Friday the postponement was necessary because Congress lagged in approving legislation to release funds for urban and primary highway construction.

Congress usually acts on such projects early in August, he said.

Bid openings had been scheduled for Oct. 11 on 23 projects estimated at $64,149,000, and for Oct. 18 on 30 projects estimated at $68,433,000.

McMoran said opening of bids for 21 of the projects scheduled for Oct. 11 and 16 of those marked for Oct. 11 would be postponed to Nov. 8.

Caught With Two Russians

Sailor Is Held by FBI For Passing Secrets

NEW YORK (AP)—The FBI arrested an American sailor Friday night on charges of passing Navy secrets to officials of the Russian delegation to the United Nations.

The sailor, seized in his car outside a diner on the Boston Post Road, Larchmont, N.Y., was sitting with a Soviet U.N. delegation member. A second Russian was inside the diner at the time, the FBI said.

FBI director J. Edgar Hoover identified the American as Yeoman 1st Class Nelson Cornelius Drummond, 33-year-old Negro, assigned to the U.S. Navy base at Newport, R.I. Drummond is a native of Baltimore, Md.

Drummond, in handcuffs, and the two Russians were taken to FBI headquarters in Manhattan early today. Arraigned later before U.S. Commissioner Earle N. Bishop, Drummond was held on $100,000 bail and taken to the federal house of detention.

Have Immunity

The Russians were released by the FBI under their diplomatic immunity after they had been identified at FBI offices by three other Soviet diplomats. The FBI said the two Russians had not been questioned.

Hoover said Drummond, a 16-year Navy veteran, had been under close observation since his naval service in London, England, in 1958. In 1959 he was reassigned to the United States.

Drummond, the FBI chief said, is specifically charged with passing secrets to the Russians on Aug. 13 and Sept. 7. After the trips, 11 classified documents and a miniature camera were found secreted in the trunk of Drummond's car, Hoover said.

FBI agents said the camera was bought by a Soviet U.N. employee in New York last February.

The FBI said Drummond was closely followed to a diner in suburban Westchester County by a car occupied by Evgeni M. Prokhorov, 31, a second secretary, and Ivan V. Vydrov, 38, a third secretary of the Soviet mission to the United Nations.

Vydrov entered the diner, while Prokhorov parked the Russians' car alongside Drummond's auto. Prokhorov then entered Drummond's car, the FBI said, adding that when Drummond was arrested, agents found — on the seat of his car between himself and Prokhorov — eight classified U.S. Navy documents.

In addition to his naval duties, Drummond early this year purchased the Havana Bar and Grill in Newport, the FBI said, adding that on several occasions, when Drummond traveled to New York from Newport, he returned with large sums of money.

If convicted of espionage, Drummond could be sentenced to death or life imprisonment (Continued on Page 5, Col. 1)

TV Meeting Set For Rockefeller And Morgenthau

NEW YORK (AP)—A joint television appearance by the candidates for governor — Republican incumbent Gov. Rockefeller and Democratic challenger Robert M. Morgenthau—has been arranged.

It will not, however, be a debate. Instead, the candidates will answer questions submitted by viewers and screened by the League of Women Voters.

State WNBC-TV announced Friday that the candidates had agreed to the appearance, scheduled for the "direct line" program on Sunday, Nov. 4, two days before the election.

Editors Disagree With Judge About Publicity, Trials

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—A New York judge said Friday there's a serious question of whether too much publicity prevents fair trials in court cases.

More than 200 newspaper editors said no.

Justice Bernard S. Meyer of the New York Supreme Court brought to the Associated Press Managing Editors convention his proposal for a law to sharply limit the content of news stories between the time a defendant is arrested and the time he is brought to trial.

The statute would, in essence, permit newspapers and broadcasters to report the fact of a man's arrest and the crime with which he is charged.

But it would prevent publication of any prior criminal cases, interviews with witnesses and the defendant's statements to police—all of which Meyer contended may tend to prejudice a jury.

All of these items could be published at the end of a trial or when they are introduced to the jury during the trial.

Meyer, who says he reads five newspapers a day, spent more than an hour fielding editors' questions after his presentation as part of a panel on court reporting.

Solid Front Against Him

To be effective, Justice Meyer said, his proposal would have to be enacted into law at both federal and state levels.

The front against his plan was a solid one.

Panel member John Colburn of the Richmond Va. Times Dispatch said prejudicial reporting does exist but that a law would lead to curbs on the search for truth.

Better liaison between the professions of journalism and law and some voluntary restraint by newspapers are the answers, Colburn said.

Harvey Schwandner of the Milwaukee Sentinel said that a conference at Northwestern University, consisting of newsmen, judges, attorneys, police officials and professors was unable even to agree on a resolution calling for scientific research on the subject.

United States—speaking through Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara—has given the Russians clear notice it is ready to wield nuclear weapons if necessary to defend West Berlin.

McNamara wove this message into his report Friday—that he found nuclear-armed U.S. and West German ground and air units in a high state of combat readiness and in his measured declaration that:

"It is our policy to utilize whatever weapons are required to protect our vital interests, and we quite clearly consider access to Berlin a vital interest to the Western world and to the United States."

Never before had McNamara coupled such a statement with a pointed discussion of the nuclear battlefield and air weapons arrayed in West Germany, facing the Iron Curtain.

Informed sources confirmed McNamara's intent, saying:

"This is to tell them we have the nuclear power and we intend to use it."

McNamara refused to spell out the conditions under which U.S. nuclear weapons would be brought into play—for example, whether this would come only if Allied ground forces were in danger of being overwhelmed.

"Obviously, we are not going to define in advance of the act the specific circumstances under which we would use any particular military tactic or particular military weapon," the defense secretary said.

It appeared obvious that McNamara spoke with the full backing of the White House.

The aim is to impress on the Russians that the United States is determined not to be pushed out of Berlin or to allow the Communists to impede access to the encircled city.

Report Tribesmen Sana Bound to Meet Insurgents

ADEN (AP)—Warlike tribesmen loyal to Yemen's royal family were reported moving on the capital of Sana today for a showdown with army insurgents who claimed control of the feudal Arab state.

Middle East broadcasts said several Yemeni princes had joined the tribal march, but Sana radio said tribal chiefs had sworn allegiance to the new republic proclaimed after the rebels announced they had killed the newly installed king, Imam Mohammad Al-Badr.

The Sana broadcast said 12 officials of the overthrown monarchy were shot by a firing squad. Among them, it said, were Prince Ismail, a member of the royal family; foreign minister Said Ibrahim; Abdul Rehman Abdul Samad, former Yemeni ambassador to Cairo; army chief Abdul Kader Abu Taaib and chief appeal court justice Yehia Mohamed Abbas.

Rusk Plans Gromyko Conference

Cuba and Berlin Discussions Due

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk was reported today planning a new meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to discuss Berlin—and possibly Cuba.

Official U.S. sources disclosed this as Rusk continued his round of diplomatic talks with an informal luncheon meeting of foreign ministers from the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization countries.

Watching Closely

This group was expected to give special attention to the situation in Laos, South Viet Nam and Cambodia. The United States was understood to be watching closely for signs that the Communist Viet Minh forces were being withdrawn from Laos according to the agreement reached in Geneva July 18.

Part of Sunday will be taken up by talks between U.S. and British officials on Cuba and other issues. President Kennedy, British Foreign Secretary Lord Home and Rusk will be among the participants. The site of the meeting will be announced later.

Short of Time

U.S. sources said Rusk had planned to take up Berlin at his three-hour luncheon meeting with Gromyko last Tuesday, but had found there was not enough time after they had dealt at length with Laos and a ban on nuclear weapons testing.

Informants said Rusk was not anxious to take up the Cuban problem with the Soviet foreign minister because he considered the problem was not negotiable. They added, however, that the secretary of state would bring it up if a suitable opportunity arises.

U.S. sources confirmed that Rusk is trying to work out with foreign ministers of the Caribbean countries steps to be taken to prevent the spread of Communist propaganda by the Fidel Castro regime and to curb possible infiltration by Castro agents.

He Hasn't Said

The lieutenant governor has not said if he will honor the summons.

Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett ignored a similar summons Friday. The eight-judge court found him guilty of civil contempt and demanded he purge himself by 11 a. m. Tuesday.

If he doesn't, the governor—battering ram of the state's head-on thrust against integration—faces a $10,000 daily fine and arrest. He would be held in custody of the U. S. attorney general.

Still another shadow of trouble for the defiant Mississippians arose at Memphis, Tenn., 87 highway miles to the northwest.

There the federal government massed U. S. marshals and other federal peace officers. Giving them a housekeeping hand was a detachment of 110 Army engineers.

Lt. Gov. Silent on Summons

Trouble Looms Today At Memphis, Orleans

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — The University of Mississippi, made a battleground by the racial tug-of-war between state and federal governments, turned to a lazy football weekend today without its barricades and its helmeted citizen guards.

Impending trouble — perhaps violence — over enrollment of James H. Meredith, a Negro, in the all-white university, loomed at Memphis and New Orleans.

Today's scheduled action comes in New Orleans, where Lt. Gov. Paul B. Johnson of Mississippi has been ordered by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to appear and show why he should not be held in contempt for blocking Meredith's third try at registration.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

A severe heart attack at the age of 46 was a blessing in disguise to Jesse Stuart.

When it happened, the work of the busy Kentuckian—poetry, novels, lectures—came to a halt. Convolving at his home deep in the Cumberland Mountains he had time, at last, to contemplate the searching questions of God and man and nature.

"This year especially," he wrote, "I am glad to be alive in April, I am more a part of it. Reborn myself, I shall watch more carefully the rebirth going on all around me... Where God is scientist, I see resurrection with my own eyes. I feel confident—I have faith—that where man, the seed of God, is planted in the ground, though his husk will go back to the earth, he will be resurrected into a new life, for this is the law of God."

Study of Religions Called Essential to Understanding

By RONALD AUTRY
NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Does religion have a place in American higher education?

The Society for Religion in Higher Education, an organization of distinguished educators, believes it does.

In this view it should be a genuine part of the curriculum and of campus life. It should influence the concept of the college and university.

"If religion is included in campus life and in the intellectual dialogue," says the executive director, Lawrence P. DeBoer, "it makes a difference how educators view the educational process."

"It might well affect student-faculty relations and the goals of the university."

One concern of the society is high-level instruction in religion at both public and private institutions.

Points Up Source of Ethics

The study of religion, says DeBoer, is one indispensable way to discover the source of values by which men live. It digs "into the roots of our Western traditions which perennially inform our culture."

Moreover, he says, the study of religion may help bridge the gaps between cultures by clarifying the basic differences in values and "discovering common ground."

It is necessary to know Hinduism before India can be understood and similarly, DeBoer says, "you cannot know American life without an acquaintance with our Judeo-Christian heritage."

All Religions to be Studied

He emphasizes that "in the present world an adequate religion curriculum must include both Western and Eastern religions as well as the religions of undeveloped countries. An understanding of native African religions is especially important now."

The society was formed officially Sept. 1 by the merger of two groups little known to the public but with prestige in educational circles.

They are the National Council on Religion in Higher Education and the Danforth Teaching Fellows. They long have had the common interest of religion in higher education.

Guest Minister Continues Series About 'Prophecy'

Dr. Myrdin Lewis, a native of Wales and former entertainer and vocalist in the British Isles, will continue his special crusade at the Christian and Missionary Alliance for another week.

The church is at 131 Franklin Street.

Dr. Lewis was the first industrial chaplain in England and while serving a church with 800-1,000 in attendance each Sunday he also toured one of the largest auto plants in England.

The president of the company told him that as a result of his efforts pilfering had almost ended in the plant.

Pastor of a prominent Baptist church in Birmingham, he has been in demand as an evangelist on both sides of the Atlantic in more recent years. He has sung before royalty on a number of occasions and has sung in all the larger theaters of England previous to entering the ministry.

Sunday Dr. Lewis will speak at 11 a. m. on Knowing Him. At 7 p. m. he begins a week of prophetic messages on the topic Prophecy—the Voice of Daniel.

Monday his theme will be, The Voice of the Ages; Tuesday, The Voice of Ezekiel and British Israelism; Wednesday, The Voice of Ezekiel and Russia's Destruction; Thursday, The Voice of Revelation—John Saw; Friday, The Voice of Revelation—John Heard.

There will be special music each night.

The pastor, the Rev. Willard D. Crunkilton, invites the public to attend the services on the subject of Prophecy.

Bethel Assembly To Host Seminar On Sunday School

A Sunday school seminar will be held at the Bethel Assembly of God, 3 Esopus Avenue, Tuesday, it was announced by the Rev. Dean L. Harrison, pastor.

The theme for the seminar will be The Holy Spirit. There are three dynamics of the Sunday school that will be topics of interest. They are Motivation, Motion and Momentum.

The program will begin 3:30 p. m. with ministry, panel, question and answer period, film, fellowship and concluding at about 9 p. m.

There will be three ministers and consultants on the great work of the Sunday school. They will be the Rev. Cosimo Leuzze, pastor of the Port Jervis Assembly of God and the Southern Section Sunday school representative; the Rev. L. L. Miles, New York District of the Assemblies of God Sunday school representative and the Rev. W. E. Kirschke, Sunday school consultant to the country of Australia.

Trinity Methodist Sets Mission Night

The work of the migrant ministry in the Mid-Hudson area will be discussed at a special program Sunday 7:15 p. m. at Trinity Methodist Church, Wurts and Hunter Streets.

The program of lecture and slides will be presented by C. Kenneth Taber of Milton, chairman of the migrant committee in that area.

First in a series of three mission nights sponsored by the missions committee of the church, the program is open to the public. A light supper for church members attending will be served at 6:30 p. m.

Newburgh Church Official Speaks Here on Sunday

DR. JOHN M. PEARSON

Dr. Pearson was formerly president of Drew Seminary for Young Women, at Carmel. He has also served as district superintendent of the New York District. At present he is chairman of the cabinet of the New York Conference.

Dr. Pearson has traveled extensively for the Board of Missions and has been active in Foreign Missions work. He has spent most of his life in churches throughout the New York Conference.

Special Service For Teachers Set At Uptown Church

This year the week of Sept. 30 to Oct. 7 has been set aside by the National Council of Churches as Christian Education Week with the theme of the Christian and His Bible.

During the 11 a. m. service of divine worship at the Fair Street Reformed Church time will be devoted to the dedication of Sunday school teachers and staff.

The teachers who will be taking part in the service are Eileen Baggott, Vivian Ballou, Lillian Boyle, Joyce Brown, Hazel Castle, Betty Emerick, Sue Emerick, Grace Farley, Stewart Farley, Margaret Grover, Mae Havelin, Mary Hults, Flo Hulsair, Glenn Knapp, Betty Lamoureux, Barbara Lasher, Elinor Leedeke, Mary Lown, Dorothy Matthews, James Matthews, Helen Marchuk, Virginia Meyers, Louise Pomeroy, Robert Pomeroy, Fansvia Ransom, Geraldine Reed, Sylvia Relyea, Ruth Roberts, Peter Roberts, Conrad Roth, Joyce Sweeney, Barbara Short, Lewis Short, Doris Walker, John Walker and Ginger Yapple.

In addition to the dedication of teachers members working in the public school system will be recognized. They are Richard Baker, Frieda Dingee, Catherine Ellsworth, Raymond Gilkey, Elsie Hohenberger, Stephen Hyatt, Jacqueline Post, William Reardon, Arnetta Russell, Warren Russell, Agnes Scott Smith, Earl Soper, Edith Stout and Donald J. Sweeney.

Local Methodists Sponsor Teacher Training Classes

A laboratory school for the training of church school teachers will be held in Kingston at the St. James Methodist Church and the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, Nov. 4-8, sponsored jointly by the churches and the board of education of the New York Annual Conference of the Methodist Church.

A meeting of the local committee to make final plans for the school was held Tuesday evening in the St. James Methodist Church with the following persons attending: The Rev. Reginald T. Edwards, pastor of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church; the Rev. Richard S. Smith, associate executive secretary of the boards of education and missions of the New York Annual Conference of the Methodist Church; Donald Wolford, superintendent of the St. James Methodist Church school; Bernard Simms and Robert Gaines, committee members from the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church.

For All Age Groups

The laboratory school will offer classes for teachers of children and youth from kindergarten age through senior high school age. Experienced teachers, certified by the general board of education of the Methodist Church, will lead student teachers in the preparation, teaching and evaluating of class sessions for church school pupils.

Pupils participating in the laboratory school will be from the St. James and Clinton Avenue Methodist Churches. Student teachers will come from the Methodist Churches of Kingston and the Kingston District.

Teachers in the laboratory school will include Mrs. Billy Vestal of Downsville; the Rev. Wesley G. Brogan of Raleigh, N. C.; Mrs. Frank Doughty of Dobbs Ferry; Charles Foster of New York City; and the Rev. Alex Porteus of Newburgh. The Rev. Mr. Porteus, executive secretary of the boards of education and missions of the New York Annual Conference of the Methodist Church will be the director of the school.

Trinity Lutheran Plans Rally Day Program Sunday

The Sunday school of Trinity Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone Streets, will observe Rally Day Sunday at the 9:45 a. m. service.

A special program of choir hymns and recitations will be featured at the service, which will be led by Oscar Lawatsch, superintendent; Ralph Grothkopp, assistant superintendent, and Mrs. C. Beehler Jr., choir director. All officers and teachers will be officially installed in their respective offices at the main service, at 11 a. m. The Rev. John H. Frenssen, pastor of the church, will preside over the installation.

In connection with the Rally Day service of the Sunday school attendance awards will be given to the pupils and teachers who have scored a perfect attendance record during the year.

Staff members to be installed are: Oscar Lawatsch, superintendent; Ralph Grothkopp, assistant superintendent; Mrs. Vincent Skure, Mrs. Marian Smith, Mrs. George Brown, Miss Orallyn Heindl, Raymond Barten, Mrs. Nathaniel Phillips, Mrs. Dorothy Giles.

Baptists Begin Song, Bible Hour Sunday Evening

A service of song and Bible study will begin Sunday night at First Baptist Church, Albany Avenue at Broadway.

The Rev. Harold J. Stephanz, pastor, who announced the weekly program, reports that the service will begin at 7:30 o'clock. Services will be informal and lay discussion and participation is desired.

Each Sunday night's fellowship will feature old-fashioned hymn singing as well as special musical selections. Mrs. Arthur T. Pedersen, director of music, will be in charge of the evening's music. Several of the laymen of the church will assist at the piano and in voice.

The Rev. Mr. Stephanz will lead the fellowship in Bible study, following selective verses and chapters.

The weekly Sunday night services are open to the public, as well as church members.

Nursery facilities will be available for small children.

BRIDGE Disaster Hits U. S. Bridge Team

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Going into the last day of the World Championship match, Italy had a 17 International Match point lead. With 48 hands to play this was surmountable. However, they added 14 IMPs to their lead right off the bat when both American pairs went sour.

The bidding in the box occurred when America sat East and West. East's two club bid was Stayman and after East jumped three hearts West should have bid either three no-trump or four hearts but West bid four diamonds whereupon East made a move toward a slam and wound up playing five hearts instead of four. South opened a club. North took the club ace and king and shifted to a diamond. East was down one and still had to lose a trump trick.

This loss would not have been severe if something worse had not happened at the other table. Italy's East arrived at four hearts after a no-trump opening by his partner and South, deciding brilliancy was called for, opened the eight of diamonds.

This made the hand duck soup for the declarer. He played a high diamond from dummy and after it held there was no diamond loser left. He still had two clubs and a trump, but made his vulnerable game.

PANAMA CANAL

Feelings across the country are bound to be hurt as a result of the attack against the United States in the U.N. General Assembly by Panama's foreign minister.

Denounced was the 1903 Panama Canal treaty which the envoy, Dr. Galileo Solis, labeled "humiliating, injurious, unjust and inequitable."

Concern over Cuba has pushed the Panama Canal problem into the background, and most people in the United States are perhaps unaware that the situation there is a touchier one with many Latin Americans than the danger of communism in Cuba.

For 60 years, since Theodore Roosevelt aided Panama in breaking away from Colombia, the United States has exercised absolute control over a considerable slice of the country—40 miles long and 10 miles wide—paralleling the canal.

The U.S. was granted perpetual control over this territory for a down payment of $10 million and yearly rental of $250,000. This has been raised twice and since 1955 has been $1.9 million.

Over the course of years, the Canal Zone, with its own postage, tidy American communities and special stores, grew to be virtually a part of American soil, as colonial a base as anything ever established by the old empires of Europe.

Panama has never really existed as a nation. Most of it is undeveloped and feudalistic. About 60 individuals or families own one-eighth of the land and largely control the government. Political instability is shown by the fact that since 1903, only one of Panama's 30 presidents completed a full term.

In recent years, however, nationalist fever has been rising in Panama. A few years ago, student demonstrators planted Panamanian flags on Canal Zone territory. Agitation such as this caused the U.S. to launch a public relations campaign in 1960—"Operation Friendship." For the first time, the Panamanian flag was permitted to fly next to the Stars and Stripes—but in only one location.

This year, following face-to-face talks between Panamanian President Roberto Chiari and President Kennedy, further displays of the flag were agreed to. President Kennedy also pledged equal labor treatment to Panamanians in the zone.

Apparently these slight concessions have been too little and too late. Panama's recent airing of her grievances before the United Nations may be viewed as an attempt to prod the United States.

In another five years, officials hope to increase camping areas in the country 55 percent. They must figure the Indians were right after all.

IRAN RELIEF CRIPPLED

It is disheartening to learn that greed and politics apparently have to some extent hampered efforts to help victims of the terrible earthquake that struck Iran on September 1. If reports of diversion of aid supplies and interference by wealthy landowners are true, then a suggestion from our government to the Iranian government for a crackdown on such practices would be in order.

It would be in order because a substantial part of the help from outside Iran has originated in the United States. Although our embassy in Tehran might find it impolitic to make a formal protest, there appears to be no reason why the matter should not be tactfully and quietly broached.

There are reports that some landowners have slowed down the rebuilding of villages by playing on the superstitions of the peasants, telling them that the disaster was God's expression of displeasure with the government program of land reform. This line is taken by men who stand to lose most of their holdings—many entire villages, in some instances—if the land reform program is implemented.

There also appears to be widespread distrust of native aid societies because of re-

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
A LESSON IN CIVICS

I have received a letter from Fort Thomas, Kentucky, which is important because it indicates how improper is the teaching of civics in our public schools. When I used to do a great deal of lecturing, I was always shocked during question time by the unbelievable ignorance of so many Americans about their own country. Let me reproduce most of this letter:

"A group of us here in Northern Kentucky, a territory highly infested with Catholics, just across the Ohio River from Cincinnati, recently completed reviewing the book—American Freedom and Catholic Power—by Paul Blanshard, of Washington, D. C.

"Mr. Blanshard states in his book that none of the facts covered have been challenged by Pope John or any American Bishops, and that he has positive proof that everything in the book is true.

"He states that American Catholics are not citizens, but that they are subjects of a foreign state, in Rome.

"Can you explain this for us, also, if they are not citizens, how can they vote; how can they have such a voice in community affairs; how can a Roman Catholic (not being a citizen) become President?"

The Constitution of the United States says on the subject of citizenship the following: "All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States."

This is the law of the land and is not to be violated by any person or state.

Any American citizen born in the United States who is 35 years old may be President of the United States; any American, 30 years old, who has been a citizen for nine years may be chosen for United States Senator. A Supreme Court justice may be either a native born or naturalized citizen.

The Constitution states no reservation as to religion or race or the nationality of a citizen's parents. In fact, the Constitution specifies:

"...nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

As to religion, the First Amendment states: "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

According to this provision, a Roman Catholic, a Greek Catholic, a Jew, a Moslem, a Bahai, even an atheist, possesses all the rights of citizenship. The only restriction is that bigamy and polyandry may not be practised as a religious right.

My correspondent therefore is wrong when he assumes that a Roman Catholic is not a citizen of the United States and if Paul Blanshard said such a thing, he said what is not true.

A distinction must be made between religion which is the relationship of a man and his God, positive or negative, and the theory that the relationship of man and his State, no Roman Catholic resident in the United States is subject politically to the Pope in Rome. A proof of that is President Kennedy's attitude toward a Federal subsidy for religious schools. He is opposed to it. On the other hand, when it comes to a question of faith and morals, a Roman Catholic is required to submit to the jurisdiction of the hierarchy of his Church.

There may be conflicts in this, too. For instance, Roman Catholics are not supposed to marry out of the Church or be divorced by civil jurisdiction on the theory that marriages are sanctified by God. On the other hand, many countries require civil marriages and many states of the United States have easy divorce laws. Mexico, a Catholic country, has ridiculous divorce laws. The same is true of France. Such conflicts have to be worked out and generally are.

But it is not true that because a Roman Catholic acknowledges the authority of the Pope in matters of faith and morals, that such a person is not and cannot be a good American citizen. This is true of Masons, a highly moral group, of Christian Scientists or any other non-conformist element in our population.

I am not a Roman Catholic and am not bound by their disciplines, but the truth must be told. (Copyright, 1962, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The Mature Parent

Relax — You're Human, Too

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

On Friday morning the mail brought Mrs. D a letter from her younger sister. It enclosed a vacation snapshot of her pretty, unmarried sister lolling in a canoe and smiling at some unknown photographer.

On Saturday morning Mrs. D awoke with a headache. She snapped at her husband for prolonging his breakfast. To her late-sleeping daughter who appeared in the kitchen she said, "No, the coffee's all gone. I've washed the pot. What do you think I am around here—your servant? When I was your age I'd have been ashamed to be so lazy, leaving all the work to my mother."

On the edge of tears, Mrs. D hung up her dish towel and went into the living room to bang furniture under the pretense of dusting it. Mrs. D herself would like to take it easy on Saturday mornings. She longs to turn off her alarm clock and extend her rest. But she can't. In Mrs. D is a conscience that damns any such self-indulgence as "laziness." So her longing expresses itself in violent contempt for those who can indulge themselves. What seems to be moral indignation in Mrs. D is envy of other people's pleasure.

Whenever we experience intense irritation at a child's "laziness," it is wise to ask ourselves: "Do I envy Stevie's ability to just sit on the back porch doing nothing? Am I jealous of Anne's casual attitude toward clearing the supper table? Do I jump out of bed at 7 on Saturday mornings because I want to—or because my conscience will call me 'bad' if I don't?"

I do NOT mean that laziness is a virtue. I do mean that knowing that we also enjoy taking things easy occasionally drains anger from our response to a child who is taking things easy.

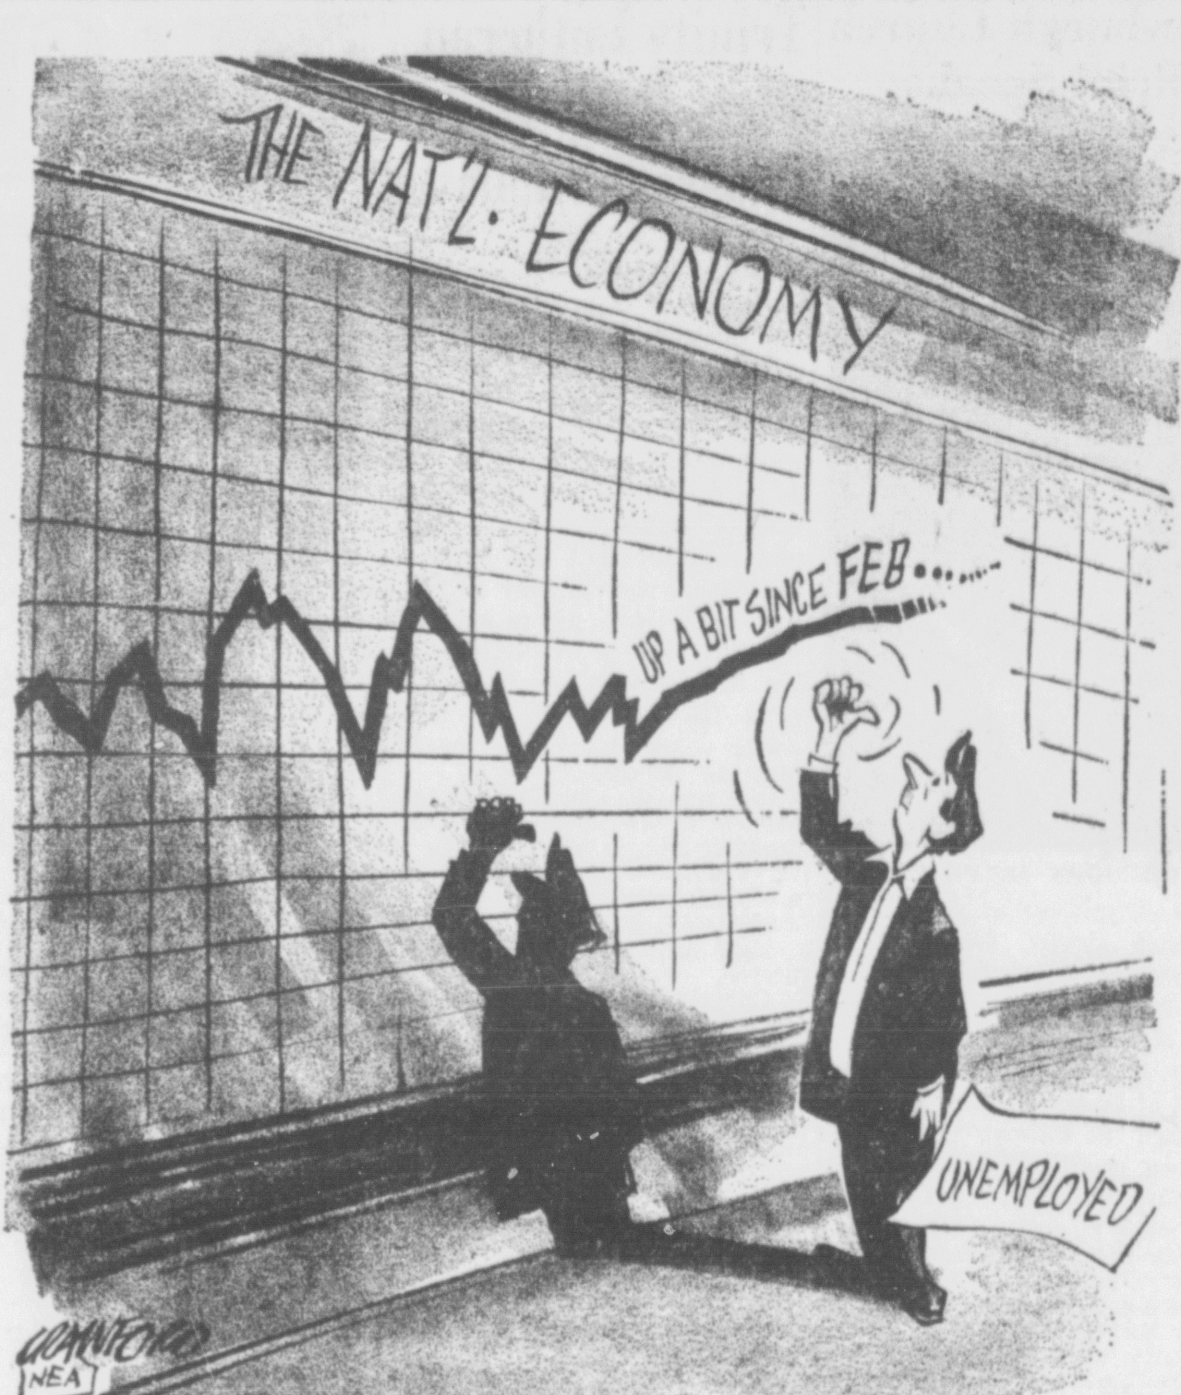

We don't approach him like an avenging angel commissioned to shame sinners. We don't crush him with the comparison between our virtue and his wickedness. We just open the door of a child who seems to be oversleeping and say, "Hey, what about getting up soon and helping me with the housework?"

The trouble is, people like Mrs. D are absolutely certain that they are haunted by the pressure of work to be done instead of by the pressure of pride in their industry.

America's Puritan conscience takes a long time dying. In Mrs. D, as in many others of us, is still Old Man Blue Law who must impose standards on others under which he himself chafes. (All rights reserved, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

ports that in the past such articles as blankets donated for relief have wound up being sold in the bazaars. This is especially pertinent now in view of the fact that many thousands of blankets have been given by Americans.

The reports of interference and dishonesty may be exaggerated. They are nonetheless disquieting to Americans who have sent generous help. The Shah would do well to get to the bottom of the matter and take corrective action if necessary.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Endorsement of the U. S. Congressional Joint Resolution on Cuba policy by the Latin-American Foreign Ministers invited to meet here with Secretary of State Dean Rusk Oct. 2-3 is now considered most unlikely.

But the official hope in Washington is that this Cuba Resolution will be as successful a Communist deterrent as the Formosa Resolution passed by Congress in 1955. Seven years later the Nationalist China government on Formosa is still free and has not been attacked by Red China.

THE CUBA RESOLUTION was passed by the Senate 86-10 with every assurance that the House of Representatives would approve it without change and that President Kennedy would sign it. But it may lock the barn after the horse has been stolen.

Events in Cuba and the political maneuverings in Washington leading up to the passage of this resolution make a sorry record. Republican Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen performed a useful service in reciting this record just before the resolution was adopted. He omitted what was allowed to happen in Cuba during the Eisenhower administration, which is politically understandable even if it is not historically excusable.

Dirksen's record begins with the Senate Department White Paper on Cuba of April 3, 1961. It reported that 30,000 tons of arms worth $50 million had been poured into Cuba from Communist countries since the middle of 1960. So it began in Ike's time.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT issued a second report a year later listing Communist bloc arms supplied to Cuba as 50-75 MIG aircraft, 150-250 tanks, a minimum of 2,000 pieces of artillery, 200,000 small arms and several small naval craft.

President Kennedy gave a third inventory of new Communist arms shipments to Cuba, including 25-mile slant missiles, radar equipment, more small craft and 3,500 military technicians.

This was last Sept. 4 and it was only then that the government really began to get excited, three years later.

The President briefed congressional leaders of both parties a few hours before he made public his statement on arms shipments. He told a few of the congressmen privately that he intended to ask for a call-up of 150,000 reserves a week later.

THREE DAYS AFTER THAT, on Sept. 7, Senator Dirksen announced in a press conference with House Minority Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana that the Republican leadership in Congress favored passage of a Formosa-type resolution on Cuba.

An hour and a half later the President announced he would ask Congress for authority to call up the reserves. The partisan rivalry to show nonpartisan leadership was beginning.

Just after Dirksen issued his statement, Senate Democratic Whip Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota had praised it and welcomed it as "a reasonable approach."

But a few hours later Democratic Senate Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana attacked the Cuba Resolution proposal, saying that the President had all the authority he needed to deal with the situation in an emergency.

Dirksen had cleared his resolution idea with General Eisenhower and received his endorsement before announcing it. Sept. 10, President Kennedy had General Eisenhower at the White House for lunch. The President said later they had discussed Cuba.

THE NEXT DAY there was a Democratic caucus at which a number of senators demanded a stronger policy on Cuba.

That afternoon Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, proposed a resolution combining the Formosa-type declaration with the reserve call-up which the President had requested.

Here Senate Armed Services Committee chairman Richard B. Russell laid down a flat refusal to consider any resolution that combined the Cuba situation with the reserve call-up. His reason was that the reserve call-up might be necessitated by a new Berlin crisis and he didn't want the Russians to think otherwise.

Next day, Thursday the 13th, the Kennedy administration changed its signals. At 5 p. m. Senator Mansfield introduced the resolution which was finally adopted. And at his 6 p. m. press conference the President said such a resolution would be helpful.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I wonder what changes will take place in dear old Kingston in the next 90 years. It took some 310 years to bring about the city we have, the sidewalks, the lights, the sewer systems, the roads, and of course the houses.

Time can only tell what drastic changes will take place. To look into the future is for the men of genius, who seem to so sure what is good for each one of us.

It is easy for me to look back and turn the pages of a Kingston City Directory of say 1872-3 which Tom Walsh of 37 Boulevard gave me. It has some 200 pages, full of names of people, and illustrated advertisements.

J. P. Reading had a half a page colored notice telling about his "celebrated lemon biscuit," and all kinds of crackers, at Hasbrouck Avenue, near Mill Street in Rondout. Paynter, Burhans and Oliver, took a half a page, for telling about their "Wholesale and retail hardware establishment at corner Crown and North Front Streets. They had agricultural tools, powder, fuses, iron, steel and wagon materials.

J. Kleinsner at Mill Street, second door from Division Street (now Broadway) in Rondout had a wholesale and retail store and were manufacturers of organs, guitars, and had a large stock of sheet music. They took in old musical instruments in exchange. They tuned and repaired at short notice accordions, melodeons, guitars and violins, and also pianos. They had Italian strings for sale. No doubt they learned their art from the old country.

There was the Ulster County Dye Works, on the Wilbur Plank Road, of which A. H. Baylor was proprietor. They did dyeing and cleansing in all its branches. They had been formerly at Staten Island.

There is an item reading: "Hunt Brothers and Tanner, carpenters and builders, Pine Street near St. James Street, City of Kingston. Shop formerly occupied by J. Hyser. They were specialists in putting up stair-railings. I wonder if they are of the present day Hunt Circus family.

I wonder how many old timers remember the "Steam Kindling Wood Manufacturing." Thomas Hamilton, was proprietor. He had on sale hard and soft kindling wood by the barrel or load. He also had wood for sale by the cart or boat load. Their yard was at Ann Street near Mill Street. Offices were at Thomas Hamilton's Hotel, Division Street, (now Broadway) opposite Abel Street, Kingston (Rondout). Robert Hargrave also was a kindling wood manufacturer. He was sole agent "for the sale of the wood of the Pettit Powder Keg Manufacturing Co. This wood he sold at $2 per load. He sold kindling wood at wholesale and retail. His yard was at Wilbur Plank Road near Pine Street, in Kingston.

Shader Bros. had a carriage and sleigh manufacturing place. They did painting, trimming and blacksmith work. They also did repairing and general jobbing. They were at St. James Street between Union Avenue and the railroad bridge. These are all in the 1872-3 Kingston Directory.

William A. Bickley, had his law office Abel corner Post Street. H. H. Blanchard was manager of the W. U. Tel. Office, Division Street (Broadway) near Mansion House, and boarded at Abel corner Post Street.

Frank Brewer was a harness maker, Abel near Ravine Street, Cloonan and Co. were in the mineral waters, at Spring near Division (now Broadway.) Newcomb S. Cooper, physician, had his office and home in Ponckhockie near Union A. A. Crosby, of Crosby Hardware had a home on Abel Street between Post and Wurts Street.

Every sort of trade and craft one could imagine in the 1870's was represented in our city of Kingston. Many of these families are still living here in their homesteads.

State Political Drive Slackens As Candidates Relax

NEW YORK (AP)—The pace of the state political campaign relaxed temporarily today with Gov. Rockefeller back from an Upstate tour in which he promised tax relief for businessmen. Democrat Robert M. Morgenthau was home from Washington with a promise of personal campaign support from President Kennedy. Rockefeller had only a review of the Steuben Day parade in New York City on his calendar today.

Observes Holidays
Morgenthau was observing the Jewish holidays with his family at the home of his father, former U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry M. Morgenthau, at Hope well Junction, Dutchess County.

Both gubernatorial candidates planned to take it easy Sunday, then hit the campaign trail again Monday.

Campaigning Upstate Friday, Rockefeller announced a $6-million plan to give New York State businessmen a faster write-off on expansion costs.

The plan will double the rate at which industry can depreciate expansion costs. It would also allow businessmen who invested in research and development facilities to deduct the full cost immediately, thus allowing them to pay off the cost of such facilities more quickly.

Morgenthau, conferred with Kennedy for a half-hour Friday and said the President had promised to visit New York at least twice in behalf of Morgenthau's candidacy.

Says Kennedy Coming
The first occasion probably will be in New York City on Oct. 12, Morgenthau said. He said Kennedy also probably would appear Upstate at least once.

"I'm gratified and pleased, of course," Morgenthau said.

The White House is hopeful that a strong showing by Morgenthau will diminish Rockefeller's chances for the GOP nomination to oppose Kennedy in 1964. Rockefeller is considered a prime possibility for the Republican presidential candidacy.

Mayor Wagner said "New York will be delighted" by the President's campaign visit.

Wagner added, "There is no question of his great popularity in New York State and he will be a distinct asset to the victory we are going to have in November."

Three Are Killed
ROME, N. Y. (AP) — Three men — two airmen and a civilian employee of the Air Force — were killed early today when the automobile in which they were riding left a street and struck a tree in this city in Central New York.

Police said the accident occurred near an entrance to Griffiss Air Force Base, where the three apparently were headed.

Dead were: Eugene D. Cole, 35, a non-commissioned officer from Centrahoma, Okla.; Ricardo Corvez, 19, an airman and DeWitt C. Conklin, 37, of Rome, the civilian employee.

Editors Disagree

belief that we must not press any restrictions on either freedom," Schwandner said.

Alan Hathway of Long Island's Newsday distributed to editors statements from district attorneys of Suffolk and Nassau counties — which are Justice Meyer's jurisdiction — in which the prosecutors disagreed completely with the judge.

"We who are in law enforcement feel that this legislation would seriously hamper our efforts and would not be in the best interests of public safety and public welfare; and might very well lead to the aid and comfort of the criminal element," said the statement from Dist. Atty. Bernard C. Smith of Suffolk County.

Helps Information
He wrote that intelligent reporting of criminal matters often brings fourth new information from the public.

Dist. Atty. William Cahn of neighboring Nassau County called the idea an indictment of the jury system. He said an entire jury panel could be prejudiced against the defendant. But he could still be acquitted because the trial judge or the appellate court will hold that any such conviction is not based on evidence.

"The state is a servant of the people," said Hathway, opposing Justice Meyer's position. "The employers have a right to know what their employees are doing."

Questioned Sharply
Several editors questioned Justice Meyer sharply on whether or not to publish the names and addresses of jury members. He said that not publishing the names would shield them from crank calls and letters.

His immediate aim, the judge said, is to get up a committee to make a study of the evidence on prejudice created by news stories and then — if the creation of prejudice is shown — to deal with the cause through his proposed law.

"The reversal of a judgment or conviction when essential unfairness has been demonstrated . . . is not an adequate corrective," Justice Meyer said. Where a man has been convicted in an atmosphere of prejudice, the defendant may be kept in jail and lose thousands of dollars while he appeals, even if he is acquitted at a later trial.

The editors finish their five-day session today with tips from a dozen editors on how to improve their newspapers.

U.S. Agrees
gation is taking the foundation's appeal to Moscow.

In reaffirming U.S. willingness to agree to a ban on underwater and atmospheric tests, Kennedy said this country is "prepared to come to an agreement today."

Kennedy, the White House said, agreed with the Indian group "on the urgent necessity to bring about an agreed end to nuclear weapons testing" and that "early action should be taken to reduce the threat of war which nuclear and other weapons of mass destruction now pose."

The President said present U.S. disarmament proposals "address themselves to the key area of concern."

So far the Soviet union has rejected American-British proposals to ban tests in the atmosphere, underwater and in space. The Soviet representative at the Geneva conference called the proposals a step in the right direction but acceptable only if the United States and Britain also agreed to halt underground testing as well.

law a bill that declares acts of public officials in keeping public schools and higher education institutions segregated "are sovereign acts of the sovereign state of Mississippi" and not individual fancies.

In Congress, conflict over the Mississippi situation came in resolutions and public appeals to President Kennedy. Seven Northern senators signed a resolution that would express the sentiment of Congress that it supports the executive branch in an effort to enroll Meredith "by every appropriate means."

Holocaust in Making
Seven members of Congress from Mississippi telegraphed the White House that "the highest state of heat and tension prevails in Mississippi . . . a holocaust is in the making." It urged the executive branch to withdraw federal troops in Memphis and "set at rest all reports and rumors that troops are to follow."

In Washington, a source close to President Kennedy said the government will exhaust every alternative before using troops, but that troops will be used if Barnett resists strongly enough.

A presidential proclamation required to dispatch troops to Mississippi was reported already in the drafting stage.

In Birmingham, Ala., the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, an integrationist group headed by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., approved resolutions commending Meredith and asking the University of Mississippi, Alabama and Auburn "to open their doors to all qualified students who apply."

At Atlanta, the executive council of the Southern College Accreditation Board warned Barnett Friday night that his state's schools and colleges are in danger of losing their accreditation. The board gave Mississippi officials until November to take corrective measures on what the board called political involvement of Ole Miss.

St. Francis' Hospital, Poughkeepsie, and admitted after treatment.

Dr. Chester Golding, Wappingers Falls, Dutchess County medical examiner investigated. Sergeant Erskine said the cause of death of the two victims had not been definitely determined and investigation of the crash is continuing.

Trooper William Urey, Hyde Park, reported a 1953 panel truck owned and operated by James Ivie, 38, of Littleton, N. H., was traveling south on Route 9 south of the Hyde Park shopping center yesterday afternoon, when the truck veered to the left of the highway, went off the pavement and hit a stone wall. The truck spun around and crashed into a tree.

Gundersen was a passenger in the truck. He was pronounced dead at the scene, according to a report of Troopers Edward Anderson and James Hayes, who investigated with Dr. William G. Thompson, Rhinebeck, assistant Dutchess County medical examiner.

Ivie was taken to St. Francis' Hospital, Poughkeepsie, suffering scalp lacerations, a fractured right clavicle and fractured ribs on the left side. Trooper Urey said Ivie was summoned to appear before a Hyde Park justice of the peace Oct. 11 on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

Funeral Monday
Funeral services for Gundersen will be held Monday at the Hartley and Lamoree Funeral Home, Main and Second Streets, Saugerties. Burial will be in Blue Mountain Cemetery, Saugerties. He was born in Brooklyn the son of Thorlies and Katherine Kristoffersen Gundersen. He was a veteran of World War II. Surviving is a brother Richard of Saugerties. Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday afternoon and evening.

Fire on Argentine Ship

NEW YORK (AP) — Flames severely damaged an Argentine cargo-passenger ship berthed at a pier here — and at one point the 364-foot vessel threatened to sink — before the blaze was put out early today by more than 200 firemen.

During the more than four-hour battle to save the 11,340-ton Rio Jauchal, 29 firemen were injured or sickened by dense smoke. Seventeen of them were hospitalized, none in serious condition, along with one crew member also overcome by smoke.

Study Authorized

and Veterans' Bureau were designed for the third floor.

The Board of Supervisors and County Health Department would occupy the fourth floor, and the fifth floor would be devoted to the County Welfare Department.

At present the sixth floor is not designated for use but could be used for future expansion of any department.

Schrowang stated the plan called for "movable" partitions in offices. Partitions could be moved to accommodate special requirements or moved to expand space for a department if required. These partitions could be either "movable office partitions" or block construction which could be "knocked down" and reconstructed at a modest cost. The architects indicated the block construction would probably be the most economical.

Many Questions Asked
During the discussion of the sketches there were numerous questions.

Supervisor Joseph Turk (R), Fourth Ward, injected into the discussion a suggestion that since the people downtown wanted the building, it be constructed on the property east of Broadway in the Ann-Chambers Street area, where building had already been razed in the East Broadway Urban Renewal Project.

Supervisor Clarence C. Raiche (R), 12th Ward offered a resolution that the building be erected on the Main Street site. However he withdrew the motion after it had been seconded, when Chairman McHugh ruled that the meeting had been called to discuss the matter and it was not contemplated any motions would be entertained.

Supervisor James J. Carroll (D), 10th Ward, said he had been requested to inquire what had happened to plans prepared sometime ago by Harry Halverston Associates, and whether they could not be used now. He said these plans were on file with a Poughkeepsie consulting engineering firm and had been paid for and asked whether they be used now.

Plans Not Adapted
Chairman McHugh stated that the plans were for a colonial type building, not adapted to present day needs when modern type structures were in vogue. Those plans provided permanent partitions in offices, the present plans called for four-inch movable partitions which made for greater flexibility.

The architect's plans indicated a cost of $15 per square foot for the 9,120 square feet in the basement; a cost of $25 per square foot space on the first, second, third, fourth and fifth floors and $18 per square foot for the 9,120 square foot space on the undeveloped sixth floor.

During the discussion Supervisor McCordle, inquired as to employee basement parking. Schrowang said there would be little space for employee parking since the utilities occupied most of the basement. He estimated the available space would accommodate only 15 cars, which would require a ramp being constructed to the basement.

Supervisor Raiche suggested addition of the Huntington Hotel property on Pearl Street would make a considerable area for parking purposes.

Discuss Cornell Building
During the discussion the controversial Cornell Building which the county acquired but never used came up. Supervisor Peter F. Simpson (D), Sixth Ward, said he heard it "definitely would be torn down."

In discussing the proposed use of the present court house premises on Wall Street, Architect Schrowang said the present preliminary plan for the building included three rooms for court room use, the present supervisor's office to be used as one, a second adjoining where the county treasurer's office now is and the present court room on the second floor. This was purely tentative and no plans had been prepared or a study made of the feasibility of this proposal. The need for additional jail space was also discussed.

Use of the court house will be included in the new Master Plan study authorized by the board.

Chairman McHugh noted that provision must be made by November 1 under the law, for a Family Court room. It might become necessary to rent such quarters, McHugh said.

County Auditor and Purchasing Agent Joseph A. Gentile, in reply to a question said no plans were now being rented by the county.

On the side of cost, it was also noted by one supervisor that there was presently a "very heavy" cost of maintaining the existing old structure which would be limited by a new structure.

The board adjourned out of respect to the memory of the late Richard Hinckley, Eighth Ward Supervisor.

Grand Jury Will Probe Dutchess County Jail Break

Grand jury investigation of internal security at the Dutchess County Jail, 130 North Hamilton Street, Poughkeepsie, as a result of the second escape of Anthony Santos Jr., 22, Middletown roofer, will be directed by District Attorney Raymond C. Baratta.

Santos is the object of a 13-state search. He broke out of the basement of the county jail Wednesday night and was trailed by bloodhounds to the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad bridge which connects Poughkeepsie with Highland.

Three guards at the jail have been suspended by Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan as the result of the escape.

District Attorney Baratta said Friday the grand jury investigation probably will not be started until Santos is apprehended. Santos was held in the jail isolation cell facing burglary third degree charges involving a burglary at a Poughkeepsie supermarket.

Quinlan told The Freeman that a complete report of the escape will be submitted to the district attorney.

"I will pull no punches," Quinlan said, "and if there is any evidence of negligence I will insist on prosecution of those involved."

Santos had been returned to Dutchess County in May from Bordentown, N. J., after serving a sentence in a New Jersey reformatory. In May, the prisoner was granted permission by a guard to make a telephone call, and when the guard's back was turned Santos leaped through an unbarred screened window and made a getaway. He surrendered four days later.

Authorities believe that Santos fled from Poughkeepsie across the railroad bridge. The sheriff said the fugitive told deputies after his surrender in May, that he escaped to Highland across the bridge after his first escape.

Quinlan stated that Santos had told other jail prisoners on his return that if he ever was freed from jail either through the courts or by escape, he would never return to Middletown.

The sheriff reported a burglary at a New Windsor laundry Thursday night, during which a pair of trousers and a jacket were stolen, might have been the work of Santos.

Report Tribesmen
izz, Yemen's other major city, arrested and taken to Sana yesterday.

Sana radio said Brig. Abdulla Al Sallal, army commander-in-chief, has been made prime minister of the new government, which includes a 7-man revolutionary council, 5-man presidential council and a 17-man cabinet.

It also broadcast a statement of internal and foreign policy which would put the new regime in close step with President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic.

City Court Cases
Two men were fined a total of $10 and one man was given a suspended sentence this morning in City Court by Judge Joseph D. Saccoman. Arthur Jones, 67, of 221 Hasbrouck Avenue, and Frank Nadspal, 42, of 103 Dunemann Avenue were fined $5 each for operating unlicensed vehicles. Gerard Geuss, 37, of 19 Nicholas Avenue was given a suspended sentence for speeding.

In Woodstock Crash
John DeCoursey, 26, of Ohayo Mountain Road, Town of Woodstock, was taken to Kingston Hospital Friday night by Doctor's Ambulance Service after he apparently lost control of his car on Ohayo Mountain Road about a mile from Woodstock village. DeCoursey was thrown from the car and suffered a fractured left leg. Woodstock village police investigated. The accident occurred at approximately 7:45 p. m.

Grand Jury Will Probe Dutchess County Jail Break

Grand jury investigation of internal security at the Dutchess County Jail, 130 North Hamilton Street, Poughkeepsie, as a result of the second escape of Anthony Santos Jr., 22, Middletown roofer, will be directed by District Attorney Raymond C. Baratta.

Santos is the object of a 13-state search. He broke out of the basement of the county jail Wednesday night and was trailed by bloodhounds to the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad bridge which connects Poughkeepsie with Highland.

Three guards at the jail have been suspended by Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan as the result of the escape.

District Attorney Baratta said Friday the grand jury investigation probably will not be started until Santos is apprehended. Santos was held in the jail isolation cell facing burglary third degree charges involving a burglary at a Poughkeepsie supermarket.

Quinlan told The Freeman that a complete report of the escape will be submitted to the district attorney.

"I will pull no punches," Quinlan said, "and if there is any evidence of negligence I will insist on prosecution of those involved."

Santos had been returned to Dutchess County in May from Bordentown, N. J., after serving a sentence in a New Jersey reformatory. In May, the prisoner was granted permission by a guard to make a telephone call, and when the guard's back was turned Santos leaped through an unbarred screened window and made a getaway. He surrendered four days later.

Authorities believe that Santos fled from Poughkeepsie across the railroad bridge. The sheriff said the fugitive told deputies after his surrender in May, that he escaped to Highland across the bridge after his first escape.

Quinlan stated that Santos had told other jail prisoners on his return that if he ever was freed from jail either through the courts or by escape, he would never return to Middletown.

The sheriff reported a burglary at a New Windsor laundry Thursday night, during which a pair of trousers and a jacket were stolen, might have been the work of Santos.

Report Tribesmen
izz, Yemen's other major city, arrested and taken to Sana yesterday.

Sana radio said Brig. Abdulla Al Sallal, army commander-in-chief, has been made prime minister of the new government, which includes a 7-man revolutionary council, 5-man presidential council and a 17-man cabinet.

It also broadcast a statement of internal and foreign policy which would put the new regime in close step with President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic.

City Court Cases
Two men were fined a total of $10 and one man was given a suspended sentence this morning in City Court by Judge Joseph D. Saccoman. Arthur Jones, 67, of 221 Hasbrouck Avenue, and Frank Nadspal, 42, of 103 Dunemann Avenue were fined $5 each for operating unlicensed vehicles. Gerard Geuss, 37, of 19 Nicholas Avenue was given a suspended sentence for speeding.

In Woodstock Crash
John DeCoursey, 26, of Ohayo Mountain Road, Town of Woodstock, was taken to Kingston Hospital Friday night by Doctor's Ambulance Service after he apparently lost control of his car on Ohayo Mountain Road about a mile from Woodstock village. DeCoursey was thrown from the car and suffered a fractured left leg. Woodstock village police investigated. The accident occurred at approximately 7:45 p. m.

Ticket Sale Brisk For Esopus GOP Campaign Dinner

MRS. CAROLINE K. SIMON

Advance ticket sales are moving well and a capacity audience is expected at the annual campaign dinner of Town of Esopus Republican Club to be held Tuesday 6:30 p. m. at The Capri, Port Ewen.

Secretary of State of New York, Mrs. Caroline K. Simon will be the guest speaker.

In addition to her present position, Mrs. Simon has served on the State Youth Commission, the Commission Against Discrimination, the State Workman's Compensation Board, and as chairman of the executive committee of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency. She has also served on many other committees and has received many honors.

As Republican candidate for president of New York City Council, she was the first woman nominated by any major party for a city-wide office, and although she lost the election, she ran well ahead of her ticket.

Advance ticket purchases may be made at Potter Brothers, Fair Street; Charles Texaco Station and Emily Card in Port Ewen; Beaver's Gas Station, Esopus; Frank Kelly's Service Station in Rifton, and from any GOP committeeman.

The dinner committee includes Esopus Justice of the Peace Alan Daugie, chairman; Harry Newton, Floyd Ellsworth, tickets; Jack Reynolds, reservations, and Councilman Sol Rosenthal.

Reynolds, president of Town of Esopus Republican Club will serve as toastmaster, and Mrs. Rose LeFever, GOP county committeewoman, and past president of Ulster County Women's Republican Club, will introduce the guest speaker.

Use Enough Make-Up

Don't make the mistake of applying make-up too sparingly in an attempt to achieve a natural-looking effect. The "natural look" often requires more make-up to cover every blemish and to blend the color to an even tone.

To combat dandruff, brush your hair daily, shampoo at least twice a week with a dandruff-fighting shampoo and keep combs and brushes scrupulously clean.

GREETING A PERSON BY NAME

Q: Is it not ill-mannered for a person to greet someone on the street with a mere "hello" or "good afternoon" without mentioning the person by name? A friend says that it is entirely correct and sufficient to merely say "hello." In my opinion it is very bad manners.

A: While it could hardly be considered bad manners, I do agree with you that it is much more polite to greet a person by his (or her) name.

A "Secondhand" Gift

Q: I have a very lovely and unusual jade figurine that my husband brought back to me from China many years ago when he was a seaman. The daughter of a very dear friend of mine has always admired this figurine. She is going to be married soon and I would like to know if it would be proper to give this to her as a wedding present or might she consider this to be a secondhand gift?

A: The jade figurine you speak of would not only be a proper gift to give to the bride but one that she will surely prize.

Asking for Invitation for Her Boy Friend

Q: I have been asked to be a bridesmaid at a friend's wedding. I have been going steady with a boy for the past six months. We are not, however, engaged. Would it be proper to ask the bride to invite him to the wedding? The boy in question is unknown to the bride.

A: If the wedding is not limited to the immediate and closest relatives, it will be entirely proper to ask the bride to send your boy friend an invitation and in all probability she will be delighted to do so.

Home Extension Service News

More than once in the past few years you have heard about Cornell's Sapsucker Woods and you may have wondered why it is such a famous place. Three miles from Cornell's campus is a 130-acre woods site known as Sapsucker Woods. In 1909 these woods were named and it was the hope of the founders that this would be set aside as a bird sanctuary. But not until 1957 did this dream become a reality. Phyllis W. Barlow, county home demonstration agent, points out in the following article:

The woodland was named by Dr. Arthur A. Allen, a Cornell professor of Ornithology, and Louis Agassiz Fuertes, an early twentieth century bird artist. They named the woodland Sapsucker Woods because they had spotted yellow sapsuckers in the area. Forty years after naming the area Dr. Allen, who was still a professor at Cornell, was giving up hope of his dream ever coming true. Most of the timber in the surrounding area had been felled and civilization was fast moving toward the site that he and Louis Fuertes had once hoped to set aside.

Lyman Stewart, a Cornell graduate and bird enthusiast, shared Dr. Allen's dream of a bird sanctuary in Sapsucker Woods. He bought 110 acres of untouched woodland in the area and this land, plus 20 more acres, became the bird sanctuary of the forty year old dream. Mr. Stewart not only bought the land, but also had a dyke built to flood over part of the land. The pond which resulted provides a perfect home for over 150 types of birds. A laboratory was built overlooking the pond, which is the first of its kind for studying bird behavior.

Sapsucker Woods is open to anybody who wishes to observe birds in their natural habitat. Thirty feet of glass spans the front of the lab and here the public can view all types of birds. Venetian blinds cover the window so the birds will not be disturbed. Microphones bring the outdoor sounds into the observatory room, making it seem as if the walls are not there. If not satisfied with this one-spot viewing, bird enthusiasts can follow a four mile trail through the woods and observe more natural behavior.

As the laboratory was built for research, many activities are carried on which the public never sees. In the lab, Dr. Allen supervises the study of bird habits. There are graduate students and regular researchers continually working on studies concerning bird behavior. These people try to determine why birds react in the manner they do and whether they inherit their characteristics or acquire them. Besides the behavior studies, Dr. Allen and his assistants record bird songs. Of the approximately 8600 bird species in the world, Dr. Allen has recordings of 1250.

If you or your family would enjoy spending an afternoon or a day observing the birds and their habits and listening to their songs, Sapsucker Woods is the place for you. Here in their natural habitat birds carry on their daily lives unaware of the busy human world. You too can forget the problems of this busy world and enjoy a working combination of science and beauty.

The hours are daily from Monday through Saturday from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. and Sunday from 1 until 5 p. m.

ASK THE DESIGNER

by gaile dugas

Dear Gaile: I am, in October, starting a four-month course in a Minnesota school. I would like to know the type of clothes to buy—and accessories, too—for school and dates and church. I am 5 feet 2, weigh 110 pounds and have dark hair and olive complexion.—D. S.

Dear D. S.: As a graduate of the University of Minnesota, I can give you this advice first: Take warm clothes. Minnesota has long, cold winters, beautiful and sparkling but severe. Now fashion advice comes from Jeanine, designer for Helen Harper sweaters. She says:

"You've picked a great winter to go to school in Minnesota. For this is the year of the muffled-up look—hoods, great yards of fleecy stoles and high, turned-up collars that keep your ears warm, too. This new 'layered look' means that you can wear two sweaters and a blouse all at once and be both warm and fashionable."

"Have your clothes for campus wear casual and unfussy. I recommend a wardrobe of five skirts and eight sweaters. A turtle-neck, V and crew neck are three classic types plus a mohair cardigan in a pastel color and a striped blazer sweater with a hood."

"For Minnesota, keep your party and date clothes simple and understated. A sweater dress in a bright color, one of the new A-line shifts and velveteen skirt with two dress-up sweaters, an intarsia print and a sweater with some type of glitter. Make your coat choice the furry type, inside or out."

"For classes, you might like a forest green melton reefer with red pile lining. Don't be afraid of color against all that deep Minnesota snow. As for shoes, the two-inch heel is the favorite of leading designers, even the great Mainboeck. Have one pair of leopard-spotted pony skin pumps on a small stacked heel. And this fall, there's a boot for every occasion, so have at least one pair."

"For your height and weight, stick to accessories that won't overpower you. Have a small handbag and don't wear clothes that are too full, plaids or patterns that are oversized. Look for good lines without fuss or feathers."

Dear Gaile: I am planning a trip to New York with two friends from October 20 through October 28. My problem is: What shall I wear? We'll be seeing Broadway plays, television shows and doing sightseeing. Could you help me plan a travel wardrobe? I am especially having nightmares about shoes. I am 5 feet 3, am 22, have reddish hair and brown eyes.—M. A. B.

Dear M. A. B.: First, the New York way of dressing is simple, spare and clean of line. But the clothes you buy for New York will be equally at home in Detroit. Now, advice as to a travel wardrobe comes from couture designer Larry Aldrich. He says:

"For New York in autumn, you will need a lightweight dressy coat, in a day length, for evening. It might be silk. You should have a wool suit, a lightweight wool dress, a silk crepe for afternoon and two cocktail dresses, neither of them fussy, for cocktails, dinner and the theater. If you like, one might be a cocktail suit rather than a dress."

"You'll need one hat only, for daytime wear. Have two pairs of oval toe pumps with the stacked heel for all of that walking about and a pair of black silk pumps for late day and evening."

Final Air Force Class at IBM Graduates Dec. 18

The final class of Air Force personnel to undergo SAGE computer maintenance training at the Federal Systems Division Command Control Center in Kingston has been announced by Richard J. Whalen, general manager of the local IBM plant.

The SAGE computer training program began at IBM in Kingston in 1955 when the first class of IBM engineers started studies on the operation and maintenance of the computer. More than 2,200 field engineers in 160 classes graduated from this training program during the next six years and began "round-the-clock maintenance duties at the nationwide ring of SAGE air defense sectors guarding the country's borders from the threat of air-borne attack."

"Project Blue Suit," the Air Force name for the current training program at Kingston, began in 1961. Since that time 70 classes of Air Force personnel have completed training here and have taken up duty at SAGE sectors around the country.

The last class of Air Force personnel will graduate December 18, making a total of approximately 1,300 airmen and officers trained at Kingston during the past two years.

Mother of 7 Freed Of Killing Husband

MAYVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Hazel Frary, a mother of seven, was free today following her acquittal of a second-degree murder charge in the shooting of her husband Feb. 11.

The acquittal verdict was returned Friday night by a Chautauque County jury. The jury, consisting of seven women and five men, deliberated eight hours. Mrs. Frary's husband, Doyle, 55, was shot at their Jamestown home with a deer slug loaded in a 20-gauge shotgun. Mrs. Frary, 32, testified Thursday that she shot him in self-defense after he came home drunk and threatened to beat her. Her trial opened Monday.

Painting Metal Surfaces Takes Care, Know-How

By MR. FIX

Written for

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Sometime in your painting chores around the house there will come a moment when you will have to paint a metal surface.

Since rust and corrosion will quickly deteriorate untreated metal it is especially important to do the job correctly.

Simply continuing with the paint brush using the same kind of paint you are using on the wall is not good enough. But, with proper undercoating, you can make the finished surface the same as the surface around the metal using the very same paint.

Remove Job

Remove old paint with emery cloth and steel wool. Clean up rust the same way. Wipe the clean surface with some solvent so that no grease or oil is present.

Then prime the area. Red lead for many years was the traditional paint for this job. It still is so far as many people are concerned. But primers containing zinc chromate are becoming popular because they dry more quickly than red lead.

When the primer is dry, put on the finish coat. For outdoors this can be any good house paint.

One Step

Much of this work has been eliminated by the one-step rust preventive paints, primer and finish coat combined in one product. With this sort of paint it may be necessary that only the loose, flaking rust be removed. The paint should penetrate the small amount left on the surface of the metal and check it from spreading.

Wait Awhile

When it comes to painting galvanized metal another problem is encountered. Paint will not adhere to a new galvanized surface. Better to wait six months or so while the metal weathers. Since the zinc coating is there to protect the surface from rusting anyway, it isn't likely that you will run into trouble while you wait.

If you are in a hurry though, there are special primers for this purpose. Or you can etch the surface, artificially weathering it by wiping it with vinegar. Rinse quickly with clear water and clean with a solvent.

Indoor, if you paint radiators, take the same preliminary steps you would for metal surfaces outdoors. Paint when the radiators are cool.

Important to Keep Those Gutters Flowing

By MR. FIX

Written for

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Gutters and downspouts should be checked at least twice a year—spring and autumn.

A fall inspection is especially important. Leaves and other debris cause not only corrosion, but backing up of snow and ice later on as well.

What may appear to be a leak in the gutter may really be water overflowing the sides of the gutter due to some obstruction.

Inspect the gutter thoroughly. Clean out all debris. If the gutter is otherwise sound, pour water in it to see that it slopes properly. If it doesn't and water hangs in at any point, check to see if hangers have come loose causing low spots.

If you discover a hole in the material, you have a patching job to perform. Scrape away all signs of rust. Paint metal with a rust preventative paint. Tiny openings often can be sealed with nothing more than a coating of asphalt roofing cement.

Small holes can be covered with glass fiber patches. Kits are available in which the patch is chemically treated. Soaking in a solvent is all you have to do before pressing the material in place to make it adhere. This can then be painted over.

And Now 'the 'Splanch'

Know what a "splanch" is? It's a split-level ranch house, a type of home now being built in certain areas of the Midwest. Builders advancing the new development use built-in quality features, such as ceramic tiled bathrooms and wood-burning fireplaces, just as they do in other modern homes.

Ask Rudy

by Rudy LaBounty

Question—Should I use a primer on my house?

Answer—If your home is in good condition, no. However if it is badly weathered or new unpainted wood and you wish to use an oil type paint, you should first apply one coat of DuPont No. 39 Wood Primer. This is a "controlled penetration" primer that provides an excellent foundation for the finishing coat of DuPont House Paint. It is not absorbed into the surface and yet penetrates the wood sufficiently to provide an excellent adhesion.

'Upgrading' Is Popular

Census Bureau figures show that 35 million Americans changed their addresses in the past year, although nearly 70 per cent didn't leave the county in which they live. A prime motive for the stay-nearby movers was "upgrading" of their housing—seeking larger units, or units with more quality materials such as ceramic tile bathrooms and kitchen countertops, moving to the suburbs, or returning to the city.

Building Shows Increase

A continuing heavy demand for ceramic tile and other building materials is indicated by construction figures reported recently by experts in the field.

The report showed building contracts for new homes and apartments were 8 per cent higher in July, 1962 than in July, 1961, and 16 per cent higher for the first seven months of 1962 than for the same period in 1961.

'The Yule' Is Ideal Small Family Home

A comfortable small home, "The Yule," presented today by the Home of the Week Plan Service, will especially suit the needs of small families and of couples whose children have grown up and established homes of their own.

Measuring but 34 by 25 feet, this house can easily be built on a 60-foot lot. Cubage of the house is 17,800 feet; garage cubage is 6,300 feet. Any type of setting will form an appropriate background for a home of this style.

Shingles are suggested for the exterior finish because they blend so perfectly with the cozy appearance of the house. Multicolored roofing can be used to good advantage. Careful—and correct—landscaping will give this house a distinctive appearance and a character of its own.

In the compact interior there are five rooms—including the utility room that connects the house and the two-car garage. The front entry opens directly into the living room. There is a good-sized coat closet to the right of the doorway so that you have a convenient place for your guests to leave their coats, etc., as well as a handy storage spot for your family's coats and stormy weather attire.

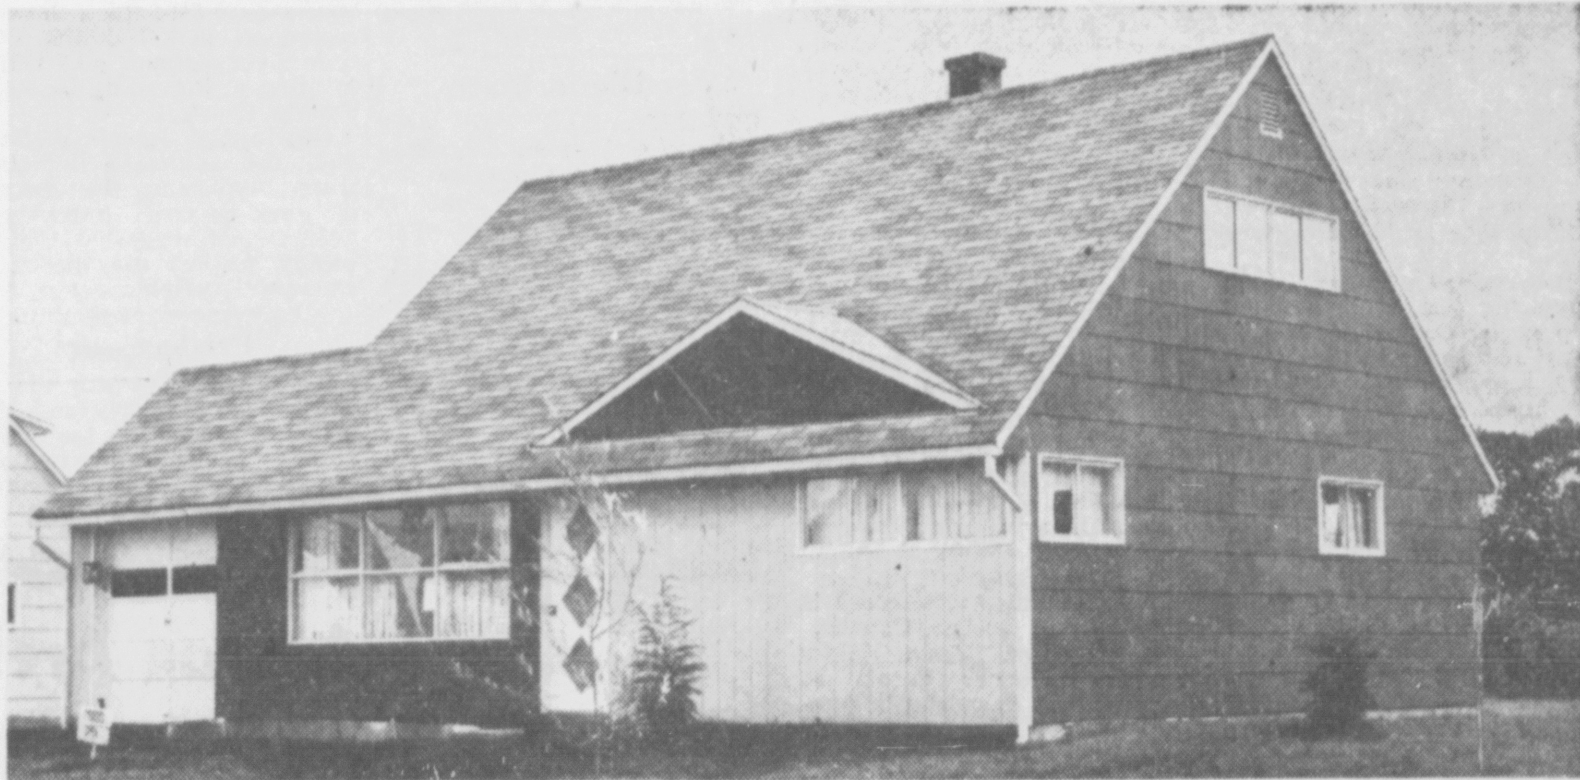

Serves Dual Purpose
The living room is planned and located so that it can efficiently serve as both a living and dining room. A fireplace and book shelves are suggested for the left wall. Near the long unbroken expanse of back wall would make an excellent site for your dining room set. Easy access to and from the kitchen is assured by the door in the back wall.

Of good size by modern standards the kitchen is planned to make your chores as easy as possible. A comfortable breakfast nook is provided so that you can serve as many of your family's meals there as you desire.

Although this house is not a large one, you'll find that it contains a generous amount of conveniently placed storage areas. There are eight closets in the house in addition to a storage cupboard in the utility room. The two-car garage provides extra storage space, too.

All of your laundry equipment can be placed in the first floor utility room. The heating plant should be located under the living room.

$792,400,000 Is Returned to Aid Fund by Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee has responded to a plea by President Kennedy and restored to the foreign aid money bill much of the funds cut by the House.

Tacked back onto the bill was $792,400,000 of the $1,124,400,000 House reduction.

Making the day doubly sweet for the administration, the committee loosened shackles placed by the House on the way some of the aid funds may be spent.

Face 'Fight of Lives'

The appropriations measure now goes to the Senate floor carrying $4,422,800,000 for foreign aid. There, says Assistant Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, administration forces face the "fight of our lives" to beat back aid slashers.

Kennedy originally asked for $4,961,300,000 in foreign aid. A bill setting ceilings for military and economic spending abroad this year cut the request to $4,754,800,000. Then the House this month voted its big cut.

Even if the amount voted by the committee is approved by the full Senate, the appropriations finally available to Kennedy likely will be somewhat less because a conference committee will have to choose between the Senate and House figures.

Modifies Amendments

In addition to changing the money totals the Senate committee modified House amendments aimed at banning aid to countries whose ships carry arms or other supplies to Cuba. Kennedy would have discretionary authority to waive the ban.

And, the committee substituted for a House bar against any aid to Poland and Yugoslavia discretionary authority for Kennedy to extend economic help to those countries upon a determination and a report to Congress that:

(1) It is vital to U.S. security, and

(2) The recipient country is not controlled by the Sino-Soviet axis.

visibly angry, after Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla., said Democrats had failed to back up their strong words with action when they rejected Wednesday a Republican amendment to a Cuban resolution.

The resolution, passed by both the House and Senate, was intended as a show of unity behind whatever stens Kennedy might take, including the use of force, to prevent Cuba from becoming a military threat in the hemisphere.

The amendment, proposing stronger language, was beaten down 251 to 140, drawing support from only three Democrats.

"Under that amendment," Albert said, "the United States would have been limited in action only to violations of the Monroe Doctrine. The resolution as passed provides for action within or without the Monroe Doctrine."

The Democratic leader added: "The time has come for the members to reaffirm the unity of this country and this Congress and to make a determination that they will not resort to partisan politics in dealing with the problem of the security of this hemisphere."

Six Die in Blaze

BEVERLY, Mass. (AP)—Six members of a family perished early today as a wind-swept fire reduced their 15-room house to ashes. A boy was the only survivor.

Police said the three-story single family house was owned and occupied by William P. Dodd, an attorney for the H. P. Hood & Sons, large New England milk company.

Dead were Dodd, 35; his wife, Eunice, 33; and their children, Elizabeth, 8; Susan, 4; Eugene, 2; and William Jr., 10 months.

Holds Censorship Of Film Choices Not Job of State

NEW YORK (AP)—An independent movie producer says responsibility for movie censorship is not the job of the state but of "the parent, the church and the school."

The producer, Arthur Hornblow Jr., testifying Thursday during a public hearing of a joint state legislative committee considering movie censorship, added:

"I am not aware of any evidence that a state knows more about what is suitable and appropriate for an individual child than his parents do."

"I submit that this great state would be asking for trouble aid to the prohibition mess if it should attempt to play the role of Big Brother in the matter of film guidance."

The committee's overall study covers the publication and dissemination of offensive material. Legislation has been proposed—but not enacted—which would provide for the state officially designating motion pictures as acceptable for children.

$3.5 Billion Is Voted by Group For Water Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $3.5 billion authorization bill for water projects has the approval of the Senate Public Works Committee.

The amount is approximately $1 billion higher than a similar bill under consideration by the House Public Works Committee. A conference committee would have to reconcile the two versions.

Appropriations to construct the projects, assuming they won authorization, would require later legislation.

Among projects approved Thursday by the Senate committee and previously by two House subcommittees but in differing amounts (House figure in parentheses):

New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware — Delaware River Basin, $192,400,000 ($244,000,000)

Projects approved by the Senate committee but not contained in the bill approved by the House subcommittees, include:

Navigation: Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, New York — Ohio River Basin comprehensive plan, $120,000,000.

AP Brings Photos From All World Hot Spots of News

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Words and pictures, the bridge between news events and readers, drew the attention of The Associated Press Managing Editors convention today.

Heading a morning panel was Vincent S. Jones of the Gannett Newspapers, Rochester, N.Y., with a commentary on nearly 200 AP news pictures transmitted from all corners of the world in the past 10 months.

Jones said AP cameramen had produced picture copy during the past 10 months from every news hot spot on the globe.

Just as significant to the APME, he said, is the extent to which member AP newspapers had shared their pictures with their brethren.

Henry Burroughs, a member of the AP's White House staff, described for editors the techniques and problems of "covering the Kennedy clan."

President Kennedy, Burroughs said, has thrown out the old rules of White House photography, and has made the use of exclusive pictures part of his news policy.

Two panel sessions delved into writing styles that draw readers and the content of news stories concerning criminal trials.

The afternoon session was headed by Judge Bernard S. Meyer of the Supreme Court of New York, who recently proposed that news media be barred from carrying any information on a criminal matter prior to the trial which might be prejudicial to the defendant.

The panel, moderated by Wendell C. Phillips, The Indianapolis News, also included viewpoints by John Colburn, The Richmond (Va.) Times Dispatch, and Harvey Schwandner, The Milwaukee Sentinel.

APME delegates were guests Thursday of the University of Minnesota, with a half-dozen medical and physical scientists spelling out some of the painstaking research which has made science front page news in recent years.

SHOKAN—Long Island people calling in the hub of the reservoir country recently included Mrs. Harvey S. Dean of Freeport. Mrs. Dean was on her way home from Oneonta where she had taken her son, Stephen, for junior year at Hartwick College. He is majoring in music education.

Mrs. Leon Huggins, Olive Bridge, was a Shokan caller last week. Mrs. Huggins who has a place near High Point was accompanied here by Annabelle Ford and Virginia Pettit, both of Port Washington.

Mrs. Edward Monaco and son, Robert, have returned to Brooklyn after having spent the summer at the Monaco family's Shokan place.

Joseph Vandever, well-known Kingston authority on antique automobiles, was in town Sunday.

Ted Skrobback, Spring Valley, Rockland County, stopped here Thursday on his way home from Cooperstown where he has some property. The young man while in town picked up an old cutter sleigh which he was able to stow away, shafts and all, in the trunk of his car.

Gerald Sorenson who resided here for a time and was employed in Kingston, is now on the operating staff of the great light tower at the Seattle Exposition. He writes local relatives that this stellar attraction of the fair will be continued indefinitely after the fair closes.

Kathryn Terwilliger has returned to Kingston following a summer sojourn at her Watson Hollow Road place. Mrs. Terwilliger, a native of Olive, is sister of John Roosa, Kingston man who was reported ill recently.

Morgenthau Eyes Kennedy's Help

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — President Kennedy figured in New York State's political picture today, as the major gubernatorial candidates scolded each other about the state's economy.

Robert M. Morgenthau, Democratic candidate for governor, journeyed to Washington and was expected to receive at least one definite date for Kennedy to speak in New York State in the battle against Republican Gov. Rockefeller.

His State Economy
Morgenthau left New York City after accusing Rockefeller of using "altogether fictitious statistics" about the state's economy in seeking re-election.

Rockefeller, who says Morgenthau is using "phony figures," put forth today a plan to give businessmen tax relief so that the state's economy could benefit. The governor toured the Mohawk Valley in the windup of a three-day campaign swing Upstate.

Rockefeller pressed hard on his contention that his opponent was misinformed in charges of economic lag and educational falldown in the state.

The governor said in a radio interview Thursday night at Hamilton:

"Somebody is handing him phony figures that he hasn't had a chance to check."

He continued to picture Morgenthau as a political newcomer who needed time to acquaint himself with state government matters.

Rockefeller also said in the interview that he would not be surprised if the Republicans drew strong voter support in New York City this year, but he said it would be a miracle if the GOP scored a victory in that Democratic stronghold.

Morgenthau's schedule included attendance at a White House conference on narcotics. He was hopeful of an opportunity to confer privately with President Kennedy.

Unveils Tax-Aid Plan

Rockefeller, in a speech prepared for a meeting of the Fulton County Republican Committee, announced plans for a $6 million program of business-tax relief to spur industrial growth and research.

He announced the plan in Johnstown which has been hard-hit economically.

"The free American economy has its problems," he said. "No one understands this better than you in this section of the state which has been undergoing such substantial changes in its economic base."

In another political development, the Republican state chairman charged the new Conservative party with using "subterfuge" and "wholesale misrepresentation" to get voters to sign its nominating petitions.

L. Judson Morhouse said the GOP would file with the secretary of state on Monday specific challenges that "will result in the invalidation of great numbers of signatures."

Visit to Kiwanis Leads to Reunion With Ex-employee

A span of 59 years was brought together Thursday in Kingston when a retired local tailor and his employee of a half-century ago renewed acquaintances.

Harry A. Young of Detroit, Mich., the only living founder of Kiwanis International, spoke at Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday. During the course of his visit, it became known that in 1903 he had worked in Kingston as an apprentice tailor. During the ensuing 59 years he had not returned to this city until Thursday.

Hubert Hoderath, governor-elect of the Hudson Valley District of Kiwanis International and former instructor in the Kingston High School, questioned the visiting Kiwanian as to his stay in Kingston and learned that Young had been employed by Otto Ruge, well-known local tailor, who in 1903 conducted a tailor shop on a second floor on Wall Street in the vicinity of the present Whelan drug store.

Hoderath also learned that Otto Ruge was a patient at the Clinton Avenue Nursing Home, and he drove visitor Young to the home.

Both Ruge and Young remembered each other after a lapse of 59 years, and Hoderath reports that the two elderly men spent considerable time talking about the "good old days" when one was the employer and the other the employee.

Needs of Senecas Considered in Study

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Seneca Indians have the attention of a federal group studying the feasibility of establishing national recreation areas around the Raysstown and Allegheny reservoirs in Pennsylvania.

Much of the Seneca reservation in New York and Pennsylvania will be flooded by the Allegheny Reservoir, under construction north of Warren, Pa.

A spokesman for the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation said a special study group Friday discussed the needs of the Senecas in connection with the flooding of their lands.

Most of the lands lie in New York State but they also include the Cornplanter Grant area in Pennsylvania.

The recreation bureau spokesman said the Indians have shown interest in a proposed economic study of recreational development in the area.

Sputnik Plus Five

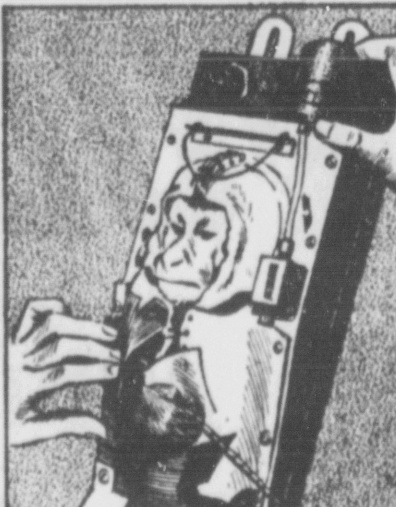

Space exploration increased its pace rapidly in 1959. Russia led off on Jan. 2 with a 770-pound probe that bypassed the moon to become the first man-made planet. In March, the U.S. Pioneer IV joined it in endless orbit around the sun. The first Discover satellites were launched into polar orbit from Vandenberg AFB, Calif. In April, selection of seven candidates for the Mercury man-in-space program was announced. They went into strenuous training, looking toward a possible flight in 1961.

(6) Reaching for the Moon

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane

Pioneering the way for the astronauts were the tiny monkeys Able and Baker, who came through a 300-mile ride inside a Jupiter nose cone in May. They proved that the day was not far off when man himself would venture into space.

The Russians, however, continued to score spectaculars. In September, their Lunik II crashed on the moon, scattering hammer-and-sickle pennants. Then, on Oct. 4, the second anniversary of Sputnik I, Lunik III was launched and sent back the first photographs of the hidden side of the moon.

Rocky Centers His Re-Election Bid In New York City

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller centered his re-election efforts in New York City today after proclaiming New York State's "fiscal shape" the best in the nation.

He told an Upstate audience Friday night that "no state in the union is in as good a fiscal shape as the Empire State."

An appearance at the Steuben Day parade here was the only item on the governor's agenda today. He will take Sunday off and resume campaigning Monday.

In Amsterdam Friday night, Rockefeller renewed his contention that the GOP administration had restored the state's financial balance without borrowing by raising personal income taxes in 1959.

Addresses 800
Speaking to about 800 persons at a meeting of the Montgomery County Republican Committee, Rockefeller said the tax rise was unpopular at the time. But, he said, voters since have come to realize that it paved the way for economic expansion and increased spending for schools and highways.

Earlier, the governor rejected charges from his Democratic opponent, Robert M. Morgenthau, that the Republican state administration was boycotting federal plans to help economically depressed areas.

Rockefeller told a news conference that Morgenthau's statements were "a perfect example of abuse of the facts to confuse the public."

Corrects Morgenthau
He referred to Morgenthau's charges that New York State had 19 areas with unemployment problems and that Rockefeller had not used federal programs to aid economically depressed areas.

The governor said the correct number of areas was 14, not 19. And, he said, "the state administration has moved rapidly to take advantage of those federal assistance programs that are operative."

Rockefeller said no funds had been appropriated under the accelerated Federal Works Program and funds had just become available under the Manpower Development and Training Act.

Also, the governor added, the state government had assisted depressed areas in applying for help under the Area Re-training Act. Rockefeller's appearance in Amsterdam ended a three-day Upstate campaign swing that included 30 stops in eight counties.

Identifies Gambler As Partner in Finance Company

TORONTO (AP) — A wealthy businessman from Niagara Falls, Ont., has identified an Upstate New York gambler as one of his partners in a finance company.

Albert Iannuzzelli told a government crime commission Friday that he had shared ownership of the finance company with Benny Nicoletti of Niagara Falls, N.Y., and William L. Houck, who died in 1960.

Nicoletti has been named frequently before the commission as a gambling figure on both sides of the border in the Niagara area. Iannuzzelli said that Houck, former Niagara Falls mayor minister without portfolio, helped him obtain a license for the finance company in the early 1950s by introducing him to K.R. MacGregor, Canadian federal superintendent of insurance.

Iannuzzelli, a dishwasher in 1940 but worth $200,000 in 1951, told the inquiry that Nicoletti owned 15 per cent of his $100,000 Power City Finance Co. and said the New Yorker put up $7,500.

Senate Passes Mine Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill that would authorize the filling or sealing of abandoned anthracite coal mines in Pennsylvania was passed by the Senate and sent to the White House Friday. The work would be financed through a $10 million fund—half federal and half state—still available under a 1955 mine drainage law.

Fairbairn Charges Citizens' Statement Has Inaccuracies

J. James Fairbairn of Shokan has issued a statement which says is a point-by-point answer to a recent statement issued by Richard O. Langham in behalf of the Ontario Citizens Committee.

Langham's release charged that an earlier statement by Fairbairn with respect to details concerning the Netherwood School in Hyde Park and the proposed bond issue in Ontario contained inaccuracies.

In his second statement, Fairbairn, in answer to Langham, writes as follows:

"Mr. Langham visited the Netherwood 3-Unit School, one of the schools in the Hyde Park First School District in Dutchess County, N. Y., which was designed by John H. Clark, presently employed by the Ontario School Board. This school cost $956,000 or $20.38 per square foot, which included land acquisition of 23 acres graded and landscaped, and all furniture attached and movable. The structural cost was $766,641.00. However, we would advocate the use of New York State common brick at a saving of $80.00 per thousand and in preference to face brick manufactured in other states. This economy should materially reduce the cost."

The Rebuttal
Point 1—It would appear that Mr. Langham did not notice that the 18 regular classrooms at Netherwood are larger than the Ontario classrooms; also the 2 kindergarten classrooms are each 50 percent larger still, and each accommodates 2 classes. There is another large special room for Art, Music and Science. The brochure examined and discussed at Mr. Langham's residence on Aug. 25 indicates the capacity as 600-650 pupils. The dedication ceremony states that the enrollment as of June 9, 1962, was already 595 pupils.

Point 2—Construction costs are as follows: (Package Deal)—West Hurley, $650,000—$21.6 per square foot, less site; Woodstock, $587,000—$25.4 per square foot; Phoenicia, $646,000—$22.9 per square foot.

Finally, the 21-room school at West Hurley as proposed by the Ontario School Taxpayers Association—$956,000—$20.38 per square foot and probably less if New York State brick is used.

Point 3—At the steering committee meeting, Mr. Warren, architect, in your presence, Mr. Langham, was asked whether the figures for the "package deal" included furniture, the answer was "No."

Point 4—Regarding additional acreage at Woodstock. In the newspaper dated Sept. 12, the statement on the breakdown of costs was quoted: "The cost of the site at Woodstock is not yet known." My remarks regarding that were not released until Sept. 14, 1962.

Asks Question
"The situation regarding the Epstein site is a little intriguing. The option is for $13,500. There is a site improvement figure of $35,000. Is that for moving the Umhey house off the site at a total cost to the taxpayers of $48,500?"

"I asked the taxpayers who were willing to try to save $2 million to make it known and there have been replies. One way of saving money on transportation is by building a school within 5 1/2 miles of the homes of 75 per cent of the school children.

"I would like to draw attention to the fact that the Hyde Park School District, comprising 7 schools, serving an area 20 miles by 20 miles, in 1961-62 appropriated $148,000 to transport 3850 children, and at Ontario we move 2230 youngsters for which the taxpayers are billed $272,000. "I believe the taxpayers are more interested in good education than in poor speculation, and we should have the privilege of voting for our choice . . ."

Registration Days
The two registration days for Woodstock township voters will be Oct. 6 and Oct. 13, with a new polling center in Zena in use for the first time.

Polls will be open on both of these dates at the town hall in Woodstock, Bearsville Lodge hall in Bearsville, and at the firehouse in Zena. On Oct. 6, the hours are from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. and Oct. 13 from 1 p. m. to 10 p. m.

Woodstockers are not required to register, if they are certain their names are on the voting rolls, but those who are not sure and new voters in the district, may go to the polls to enter their names.

Senior Citizens Planning Gala

The Woodstock Senior Citizens Club has extended invitations to area organizations for its fifth anniversary celebration on Tuesday, Oct. 16, at the Woodstock town hall at 8 p. m.

The Kingston and Saugerties Golden Age Club have been invited along with all other Woodstock organizations. Mrs. Ann Frisard, president, announced.

Woodstock's Senior Citizens Club was organized five years ago by the Public Health Nursing Committee. It meets the third Tuesday of every month and has had many enjoyable evenings in the past. All men and women 60 years or over, residing in Woodstock township, are eligible.

The Woodstock Town Board will announce the preliminary budget for 1963 at a special meeting Tuesday, Oct. 2, at town hall.

Preliminary figures will be submitted by the town supervisor after consultation with other members of the board and departmental head.

Following the preliminary hearing, a public hearing will be slated on the budget before it is adopted in final form. All residents and taxpayers are invited.

Bounces With Fine

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Judge Gerald J. Klein said a traffic offender—one of the last of 200 cases he handled in a single night—paid a $10 fine and then hopped across the courtroom, bounding up and down.

"Why are you walking that way?" the judge asked.

"If I'm in a kangaroo court I thought I ought to act like a kangaroo," the man replied.

The judge lectured him on the dignity of courts then let him go.

Better Ground Rates Suggested for Airline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Modern Air Transport Inc., a Newark N.J., supplemental airline wants the federal government to direct Mohawk Airlines, Utica, N.Y., to provide more reasonable ground service rates.

Modern said that when it operated flights into airports where it had to depend on Mohawk for ground services, it had to pay exorbitant charges. It asked the Civil Aeronautics Board to investigate.

In a complaint, Modern said Mohawk's purpose was to subject the supplemental airline to public ridicule and to try to convince passengers that it was an unsafe, fly-by-night operation.

Modern said that on Aug. 1, for example, it landed a transport at Oneida County Airport, serving Utica, with 45 military personnel aboard.

It paid Mohawk, the only ground support facility on hand, $100 for use of passenger steps, $100 for use of an auxiliary power unit, $100 for use of a baggage tug, and $100 for each baggage cart used.

Other customers of Mohawk pay only $50 for everything, Modern said.

Man Loses Arm During Storm in Gotham Thursday

NEW YORK (AP) — High winds and drenching rain Thursday injured at least three pedestrians—including a freak accident in which a Virginia man lost an arm.

The weather bureau said Thursday night that the storm, which dumped about 1 1/2 inches of rain on the city, would taper off sometime today.

U.S. Navy Capt. Robert Selmer, 40, of Falls Church, Va., was walking along East 47th Street at Third Avenue when a four-foot long wooden beam fell from the 12th floor of a building under construction and struck him on the right arm. The arm was severed by the impact.

Keating Says State Has Model Way To Treat Addicts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., says New York State's program for helping drug addicts should be the model for similar federal programs.

At a White House Conference on Narcotics, Friday Keating said that New York had a sensible plan for civil rather than criminal commitment of drug addicts.

"I think the federal government should have a similar program," he said.

Keating said he was certain Congress would adopt such a program, which is embodied in a bill he has introduced.

Lompoc Rocket Society has grown from 17 members to more than 50. Here they give a demonstration for a cub scout pack.

Junior Rocket Society Blasts Models and Moustronaut Aloft

Last October, science teacher James Brent Norlem of Arthur Hapgood Elementary School, Lompoc, Calif., interested 17 pupils of his sixth grade in starting the Lompoc Rocket Society.

One of its members, sixth-grader Catherine Meyer, was elected "Society Historian." She said:

"Dedicated to educational advancement through model rocketry, the organization adopted the name of Lompoc Rocket Society in honor of the famous German Rocket Society of 1927-1933, which was founded by Willy Ley.

"On November 14, 1961, the Lompoc Rocket Society received its official Section Charter from the National Association of Rocketry, making it a part of that national organization."

Catherine further reported: "Lompoc itself is, by nature, a space-minded community. It is situated within a few miles of the Naval Missile Facility at Point Arguello. This is where missiles of all types and natures are assembled and tested, and where telemetry and communications support are given to all Pacific Missile Range launches, as well as to 'Project Mercury.'

"Only a few miles farther is Vandenberg Air Force Base, home of the combat-ready Titan silo-launched intercontinental missile."

The Lompoc Rocket Society has given many demonstrations of its rocketry activities to Cub Scouts and other juvenile groups. It also has done this for various adult organizations. These included the Lompoc Optimists Club, the Lompoc Lions Club and the Lompoc Kiwanis Club.

One of the greatest achievements of the Lompoc Rocket Society was the rocketing aloft to an approximate altitude of 1,500 feet of its first "moustronaut." The "moustronaut" was a field mouse named Stella (Latin for "star"). Stella's padded capsule was inscribed, "I shall return."

The society's activities are under adult supervision to insure each member's safety. —Weldon D. Woodson

Tiptoe through the tulips would be a good saying for this picture of a man pushing a sight-seeing boat in Holland.

'Ruthless' Tulips Held Holland in Their Grip

In 1650 tulips were first brought from what was then Constantinople in Turkey to Augsburg in Austria and bloomed there. There were only a few at first, but their fame gradually spread across Europe and finally reached Holland.

The Dutch became "tulip mad." Bulbs were extremely difficult to get and were accordingly highly expensive. Yet the possession of even one single bulb was the "status symbol" of those days. People who had not enough cash, paid in goods for a bulb—whole houses and their furniture, and the produce from several farms would be given for a single bulb. After a while, bulbs were sold by weight, and even a "perit"—less than a grain—of difference in weight could make an enormous difference in the cost of the bulb.

Groups of persons went together to buy a bulb or part of a bulb and "bulb exchanges" were set up in every town and village for the buying and selling of bulbs. Fortunes were made in dealings and in fact the whole country had "tulip-mania." On one occasion an English sailor arrived at a Dutch port and knowing nothing of the situation, took a liking to an onion he saw, part of what he thought was a box of onions. He ate it with his bread and cheese and enjoyed it. Just as he was finishing his meal he was arrested. He had eaten a tulip bulb worth a fortune. He was given several months in jail to digest his lunch.

In time, of course, the breaking point was reached. Prices suddenly fell and half the country was ruined. The government wasn't able to help the people, and for years Holland languished economically. At last they recovered and, of course, today their tulip fields are one of their great assets. —John Austin

LITTLE MOUSE CHANGES GRANDPA'S MIND ABOUT KEEPING TOMMY'S NEW FRIEND

Tommy Andrews was all excited the day the kitten followed him home. He'd never had a kitten, or any animal of his own, in all his life, and he wanted to keep it.

"Can I keep it?" he asked his mother.

"I don't know—" said Mother. "We'll have to see what Grandpa says." Her voice sympathetic, but a little doubtful. Grandpa didn't like cats very much, and Tommy and his mother were just visiting there. They couldn't do what they could at their own home.

Tommy was five and he lived in town. He and his mother had been spending a few weeks this summer with his grandparents who lived out in the country.

They had lots of good things to eat on the farm that you didn't get in town. Fresh beets and corn, grown right in Grandpa's own garden, and milk fresh from the cow. Blackberries and lots of good things that you didn't get in town.

It was nice out at Grandpa's yet, Tommy didn't have anyone to play with like he had in town, and the days sometimes seemed kind of long. Tommy was kind of lonesome, till the day he found the kitten.

"What's this?" grandpa said shaking his head.

Tommy found it one morning way down by the road. It was hiding under some bushes down there.

"Meow—" It said. "Meow—" It was way back there, and it seemed kind of scared. But after he coaxed it for a while it came crawling out.

Tommy's mother found an old saucer and they gave the kitty some milk. It was half starved; it didn't stop lapping once till the milk was all gone. Then it sat up and started licking its fur.

Tommy tied a string to a piece of paper and when he pulled it the kitty would run and jump at it. It was lots of fun.

When Grandpa got back from the village and saw the cat, his face showed that he didn't like it a bit.

"What's this?" he said, shaking his head and wrinkling up his forehead in that disapproving way he had.

"I found it—" said Tommy. "Found it—where?" "Down there in the bushes—" Tommy pointed. "I want to keep it. Can I, Grandpa?" Grandpa's brow puckered

Sardines

One of the merriest indoor games that you can play is called "Sardines," and you'll understand why once you try it. Everybody present turns to the wall and shuts his eyes and counts to a hundred in order to give "It" a chance to hide. Then the hunt is on. However, the player who finds "It" doesn't reveal the hiding place. Instead, both players share the hiding spot. A third and fourth person do exactly the same thing, and you can imagine the crowded condition that will result if six or seven people are trying to squeeze into a small closet or underneath a tablecloth covered bridge table.

When this just isn't humanly possible any more, its O.K. to sit as near the hidingplace as you can. Look innocently in a different direction, and you won't give away your secret to those who are still hunting. Eventually, the last person to find the hiding place is the one who will become the new "It."

Mother--Now, darling, let Mr. P--hear how nicely you can say your Christmas hymn.

Nothing loath, darling bravely began:

Child--While shepherds watched their flocks by night, All seated on the ground, The Angel of the Lord came down And-and-and (Here memory failed, but quick wit came to the rescue, adding, in triumphant tone:) And thought he'd show them round.

And how the memory lingers! Don't know how many teeth he has. But I know I have four fingers!

Son--Dad, gimme a dime. Father--Son, don't you think you're getting too big to be forever begging for dimes? Son--I guess you're right, Dad. Gimme a dollar, will ya?

Chicago, Green Bay In Top NFL Contest

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National Football league's oldest rivalry—and one of its biggest pairings for Sunday—will help decide the shape of things in the Western Conference when the defending champion Green Bay Packers and Chicago Bears meet for the 87th time.

Both teams are 2-0, and are in a four-way tie for the top spot in the West with Detroit and Baltimore, which meet in Baltimore Sunday. Green Bay will be host for this one, and trails in the storied series 50-30-6.

In other NFL action, Washington, the surprise Eastern Conference leader with a 1-0-1 mark, opens its home season against the St. Louis Cardinals (1-1). New York and Pittsburgh match 1-1 records in Pittsburgh. Cleveland (1-1) is at Philadelphia (0-2). Dallas (0-1) travels to Los Angeles (0-2) and two winless (0-2) clubs, Minnesota and San Francisco, meet in San Francisco.

In the American Football League, Denver is at New York San Diego at Oakland and Buffalo at Dallas. Houston and Boston are not scheduled.

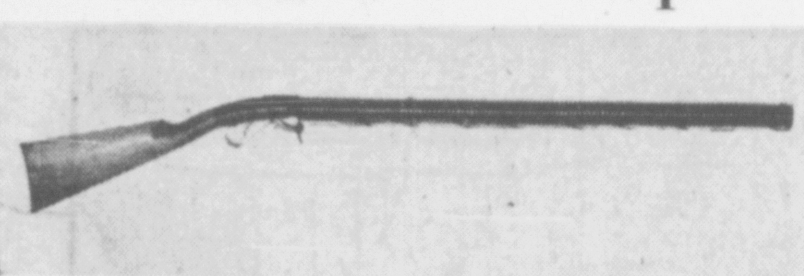

In Good Shape

The Packers are physically sound, and perhaps stronger than at this time last year when they began their march to the conference crown and league title. Their defense allowed St. Louis only 16 yards rushing last week, while the offense again has Paul Hornung, NFL scoring leader with 39 points, and fullback Jim Taylor, the league's No. 2 rusher with 197 yards.

The Bears are battered physically. Halfback Charlie Bivins and all-league linebacker Bill George are out, while fullback Rick Casares, halfback Willie Gholston, defensive back J. C. Caroline and offensive tackle Fred Williams are hurt and due for only limited action. Roger LeClerc will replace George, rookie Ronnie Bull will fill in for Bivins and Joe Marconi will replace Casares. The Bears are the league's top rushing team, but will also go against the No. 2 rushing defense.

New Numrich Muzzle Loader Stirs Nation's Gun Experts

A "new" muzzle-loading rifle made by the Numrich Arms Corporation of West Hurley is featured in the October issue of Mechanix Illustrated magazine. The replica of the Hopkins & Allen 1862 muzzle-loader comes in kit form and includes, rifle, gunpowder, powder measure, patches and ramrods.

According to the article in the national science monthly, the ten pound replica is extremely accurate, goes off with a big bang and has very little recoil.

After loading and firing one of these weapons one realizes why our ancestors had to be such skilled marksmen, says the article. If the first shot didn't bring down their quarry, the intended victim had minutes to escape or to counterattack. Preparing a muzzle-loader for firing is a multi-stage operation requiring patience and practice.

The Hopkins & Allen is unique in that the nipple and hammer are on the underside, the hammer snapping upwards instead of falling. With this arrangement the barrel's line of sight is unobstructed. To fire the piece, the hammer is cocked, a percussion cap pressed over the nipple and the trigger pulled. When you bring down your game with one of these "new" muzzle-loaders you are truly a marksman.

Locals Register Tying Touchdown Late in Contest

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Apparently out of the running after falling behind with only five minutes to play, Kingston High School rolled 67 yards in 10 plays to score the touchdown and tying point in a 14-14 deadlock with visiting Albany High before a good crowd last night at rain splattered Dietz Stadium.

The beefy capital city squad had tallied touchdowns in the third and fourth periods to overcome a 7-0 deficit and looked like a winner until the final drive by the Maroon players.

Fullback Guy Bush tallied the touchdown and then plunged for the extra point which knotted the count with only two minutes remaining.

Kingston had scored in the second quarter when quarterback Mike Hart passed to end Paul Natale from the AHS 16. The visitors knotted the count when ace halfback Charles Leigh scampered 35 yards on a punt return in the third period and they moved ahead in the fourth on a plunge from the one by Leigh. This set the stage for the late rally by the home side.

The locals lost a chance to score early in the opening period when halfback Ricky Jackson ran the opening kickoff 70 yards, from his 15 to the AHS 15. However, a KHS player was detected clipping and this nullified the run.

After an exchange of punts, the Maroon started a drive from the 13 and it went all the way to the Albany three before it sputtered and then stopped. Halfback Tom Auringer made a nifty 37 yard run to feature the march, moving from his 45 to the AHS 18.

With a second and goal to go from the three, Bob Kennedy went in for an apparent score but the home side was penalized and it halted the bid.

Score in Five Plays

Coach Bill Burke's boys put a punt in play on the Albany 36 late in the first quarter and it took only five plays to reach paydirt, the touchdown coming on the third play of the second period.

Kennedy dashed to the 25 to ignite the march and then Auringer slipped all the way to the 10, thanks to a key block by Kennedy. After Auringer was thrown for a loss back to the 11 and then to the 14, Hart was dropped to the 16. On a fourth down situation, Mike passed to Natale in the left corner. Paul plucked the pigskin from the air for the touchdown. Auringer then plunged for the PAT.

After both sides took turns punting, the visitors started a drive on the 44. A clipping penalty shoved Albany back to the 33 and then Leigh went 67 yards for an apparent touchdown, moving through the entire KHS secondary. However, another clipping penalty was called, shoving the visitors back to the 41. From there they moved all the way to the KHS 4 before being halted. Four plays from that point moved them back to the 16 as the half ended.

A nifty runback by Ed Lewis put the upstarters in business early in the third period. He returned a punt from his 40 to the KHS 33. Lewis then carried to the 24 and bruising fullback Bob Stallon went to the 20. At this stage of the game, the visitors were moving through the line almost at will.

After Leigh powered his way to the KHS seven, the line stiffened and the visitors were stopped on the goal line.

Two plays later, Natale kicked from the end zone and Leigh tucked the ball under his arm on the KHS 35 and zoomed into the end zone. Stallon's plunge for the PAT was good and the score was knotted.

Another Runback

Lewis ignited another touchdown march when he took a punt on the 35 and zig-zagged all the way to the Kingston 39 on the first play of the fourth quarter. The touchdown came 12 plays later when Leigh bulled over from the one. He did most of the ground gaining in the march. Lewis ran for the point and with only five minutes to play, things looked dreary for the home side.

However, the Maroon players didn't quit. They put the kickoff in play on the 33 and moved the 67 yards in only 10 plays. Hart connected with Bush on a pair of short passes to spark the drive and the visitors were penalized 15 yards on a personal foul to keep it going.

With a third and one situation from the 16, Bush took a handoff from Hart and went through the line to score standing up. He was aided by some superb line play. Guy insured the tie when he plunged for the point.

The visitors took the kickoff on 34 and were content to eat up the clock in the final two minutes. They moved for a first down to the KHS 41 before time ran out.

CO-CAPTAINS IN SOCCER—Soccer coach Al Miller of State University College at New Paltz is pictured with Art Stockin, senior from Kerhonkson, and Tom Clarke, transfer from Orange County Community College, who will be co-captains of the 1962 soccer varsity. The New Paltz Hawks were scheduled to open their season this afternoon at Danbury, Conn.

Will Dodgers Blow Pennant?

LA Margin Is Reduced To 1½ Games

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers, who were supposed to have things all locked up last Monday, suddenly have their backs to the wall, time running out and the pressure mounting hourly.

It was Monday that the Dodgers held a four-game lead and an apparent lock on the National League pennant.

Since then, however, Walt Alston's suddenly faltering heroes have lost four of five, San Francisco has grabbed three of four and the difference is only 1½ games.

Two nights in a row now the Dodgers have blown a chance to clinch at least a tie for the No. 1 spot. All they had to do was win. Each time they lost.

Friday night the margin was 3-2 in 10 innings. San Francisco was rained out of its game with Houston and faces a twin bill with the Colts today and a final game Sunday.

Los Angeles has two left, both against the tough Cards.

The situation remains the same: A Dodger victory or a Giant loss gives the Dodgers at least a share of the top spot. Any combination of Dodger victories and Giant losses totalling two gives the pennant to the Dodgers.

For San Francisco to win, it would take three Giant victories and two Dodger losses. For the Giants to tie, they must win at least two, and the Dodgers lose two.

In the American League, the champion New York Yankees came from behind in the seventh inning and beat the Chicago White Sox and 42-year-old Early Wynn 7-3, spoiling Wynn's third bid for his 300th career victory.

It may have been the last try ever for the veteran right-hander, who left the club to attend a player representative meeting and will not pitch again this season. He said he has not yet decided whether to play again next year.

In the other games, Minnesota clinched at least a tie for second place in the American League with an 11-5 rout of Baltimore. Detroit whipped Kansas City 7-3, the Chicago Cubs beat New York's Mets 3-2, Pittsburgh stopped Milwaukee 8-2 and Cincinnati took Philadelphia 7-3.

The Los Angeles at Cleveland doubleheader was postponed because of rain. Boston and Washington were not scheduled.

Wynn, seeking to become the 14th major league pitcher to reach a 300 mark, had a two-hitter and a 3-1 lead through 6 2/3 innings. Then Clete Boyer doubled and Joe Pepitone hit a pinch hit homer. Four more crossed after two were out in the eighth, three on Dale Long's homer.

On His Own

NEW YORK (NEA)—Pat Summerall gave Kyle Rote, the New York Giants' new offensive coach, his greatest thrill in 11 seasons of pro football.

"It was when Summerall kicked that 49-yard field goal in the snow and against the wind to beat Cleveland, 13-10, and give us a tie for the 1958 Eastern Conference championship," recalls Rote. "They say football is a team game, but that afternoon all of us might as well have been on the sideline. It seemed as if it were Summerall all alone."

Summerall and Rote retired from player ranks this year.

Speedster Scores All the Points In 13-12 Decision

Halfback Richie Giannotti put on a scintillating one-man show at Riverview Field in Poughkeepsie last night as he led his Saugerties High teammates to a pulsating 13-12 DCSL triumph over Arlington.

Giannotti gave the Bridge City crowd a sample of his vaunted speed with an 80-yard kickoff return, a 25-yard end sweep and then plunged for an extra point. He accounted for all the Saugerties scoring as the defending champions won their 17th straight game.

However, this one wasn't easy. The home side scored on the very first play from scrimmage when halfback Bill Wade scooted 65 yards. The Admirals moved to another score in the second period when speedster John Repsher went in from the 12. This gave the home side a 12-0 lead and the home town crowd was looking forward to the end of the SHS winning skein.

Giannotti, however, thought otherwise. After the AHS touchdown, he took the kickoff on the 20, put the ball under his arms and took off. Richie had a couple of blocks at the start of the jaunt but he went the final 40 yards on his own, dodging several would-be tacklers. Though the PAT attempt failed, the Sawyers were back in contention.

After both sides had chances during the second half, the winners started a drive from the 40 midway in the fourth period and they moved 60 yards to paydirt. Giannotti (who else?) circled end on a sweep for the final 25. This tied the score but only until Richie got the pigskin again. This time he plunged over for what proved to be the winning point.

Fumble Halts

This contest was far from over. The Admirals struck back, moved downfield all the way to the SHS 10 before a fumble thwarted the bid. The Sawyers pounced on the loose ball and they held the pigskin for all but the final 20 seconds.

Both sides had numerous opportunities to tally. Saugerties drove to the AHS 35 and 15 in the first period, only to lose the ball on fumbles. Arlington had a couple of chances during the contest but met some resistance on the part of the Sawyer forward wall.

Coach Fred Seither is happy over the fact he had Giannotti on his club. He was the difference.

Alabama Gets Easy 44-6 Win

NEW ORLEANS, La., (AP) — Alabama, looking every bit as mean as last year's national champions, holds a tighter grip on its top-ranking status today after a dazzling 44-6 offensive display Friday night against Tulane.

The Crimson Tide showed a brilliant field general in 19-year-old sophomore Joe Namath.

In case anyone has any ideas about stopping Alabama by stopping Namath, backing him is a well-oiled ground attack led by junior fullback Eddie Versprille and a rough, hard-charging line. But Namath, a 6-foot-1, 184-pound aerial whiz from Beaver Falls, Pa., is 'Bama's offensive sparkplug. And he proved in his second game he can move his club—rated first in this week's Associated Press poll—with the coolness of a veteran.

His varied choice of plays kept the Tulane line off balance all night. His passing demonstrated an uncanny eye for spotting open receivers, and his fakes were carried off with the aplomb of a magician.

Namath hit on 6 of 7 passes for 98 yards—giving him a two-game total of 16 of 21 airds for 272 yards.

Versprille, a shifty-running 187-pounder from Norfolk, Va., piled up 97 yards on 13 carries—high for the game. In all, the Tide piled up 202 yards rushing. Halfback Butch Wilson lugged the pigskin over the goal line twice on bursts of 7 and 1 yards.

Halfback Cotton Clark, a talented receiver, pulled in two touchdowns passes from Namath and scored a third TD on an 11-yard dash. Namath plunged a yard for another touchdown to wrap up Alabama's scoring.

Ohio State, which lost its pre-season No. 1 spot in the AP poll to Alabama this week, opens operations today against North Carolina. The Buckeyes are heavy favorites.

The only other member of the top 10 that has not played yet is Michigan State, rated No. 6 in the nation and a threat to Ohio State in the Big Ten race. The Spartans were scheduled to battle Stanford in Palo Alto, Calif.

Irish on TV

In the NCAA television game of the week, Notre Dame and Oklahoma lined up against each other at Norman, Okla., with a sellout crowd of more than 61,000 expected.

Third-ranked Texas, the overwhelming choice to ride to the Southwest Conference title, plays a night game at Texas Tech, while fourth rated Penn State was host to the Air Force Academy.

Louisiana State, No. 5, has a night date with Rice, and Mississippi, No. 7, goes against Kentucky, also in a nighter.

Georgia Tech, No. 8, visits Florida, Southern California, No. 9, is the favorite over Southern Methodist in a night game and Missouri, No. 10, will have to prove itself against Minnesota.

Army crossed paths with Syracuse in New York, while Duke, upset by Southern Cal last week, hoped to rebound against South Carolina. Washington, a Big Six contender, entertains Illinois after its 7-7 tie with Purdue last week.

New Paltz Tops OCS Harriers

New Paltz Central School won a dual Cross Country meet from visiting Ontario, 35-20, yesterday.

Evangelist Is Guest Speaker At 1st Baptist

JACK WYRTZEN

Jack Wyrzten, described as America's foremost evangelist to youth and director of the Word of Life Fellowship, New York, will be the featured speaker at the Word of Life Rally being held at the First Baptist Church of Saugerties, Thursday, 7:30 p. m.

For 21 years Jack Wyrzten has directed the Word of Life activities, conducting old-fashioned but immensely popular gospel meetings with American young people. Coast-to-coast broadcasts from Times Square rallies expanded into some of the greatest Christian mass rallies in history at the Carnegie Hall, St. Nicholas Arena, Madison Square Garden and the Yankee Stadium. Mr. Wyrzten has also been on television.

Mr. Wyrzten will be accompanied by Ken Nantel, tenor soloist, for this rally.

High School News

John Santoro has been chosen president of the junior class at Saugerties High School with John Crispino, vice president; Cosmo Sasso, secretary and Alan Kane, treasurer. Miss M. Elinor Lente is class advisor.

Election of officers was also held during a recent meeting of the Masque Club with Joanne Cook the new president; Jacqueline Snyder, vice president; Diane Ciccone, secretary; Sherri Kerr, program chairman. Mrs. Lynette Flewelling is the faculty advisor.

New York State Regents Scholarship examinations will be held Thursday, Oct. 4 in the high school for senior students. They will be administered in two parts, 9 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. All students should plan to be in the exam room at least 15 minutes before the scheduled time.

School Closes Monday

All schools in the Saugerties Central School District will be closed on Monday, Oct. 1. The faculty members will attend an all day workshop program with-in the system.

Schools will also be closed Friday, Oct. 5, in order that members of the teaching staff may attend the Eastern Zone meeting of the New York State Teachers' Association at Albany and Schenectady on that day.

Participate in Parade

Members of the Saugerties Drum Corps will meet at 5 p. m. Saturday at the Municipal Building to board a bus for Catskill where they will play for Hose Company No. 1 in the firemen's inspection parade.

Events Scheduled

The regular meeting of the Saugerties Village Board of Trustees will be held in the village clerk's room Monday, 8 p. m.

The Saugerties Lions Club will meet at 6:30 p. m. at the Cloverleaf Restaurant, Route 32, Monday.

The Saugerties Monday Club will hold its annual luncheon Monday 1 p. m. at Williams Lake Hotel.

Business Week in Review

By JACK LEFLER

AP Business News Writers

NEW YORK (AP) — Bankers, industrialists and business magazine editors gathered this week to examine the economy and heard mixed but cautiously optimistic reports.

The occasions were the convention of the American Bankers Association in Atlantic City, N.J., a meeting of the National Industrial Conference Board in New York City, and a government briefing of the editors in Washington.

The sessions provided sounding boards for economists, business leaders and public officials at a time of unusually keen interest in the smallest trends of the economy.

Sam M. Fleming of Nashville, Tenn., outgoing president of the Bankers Association, expressed the opinion that "There is no reason in the world to anticipate a recession."

He said that in an economy as large and diverse as that of the United States there are bound to be both favorable and unfavorable signs "but I'm not too pessimistic about our future. However, there's always the chance we could talk ourselves into a recession."

At the Industrial Conference Board session, Robert E. Williams, vice president for sales of Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., predicted a relatively moderate business downturn beginning in the first quarter of 1963.

And George Troutt, vice president of Associated Dry Goods Corp., forecast a decline in the economic growth rate in the fourth quarter of this year and the first quarter of next year with a recovery starting in the 1963 second quarter.

On Brighter Side

However, on the brighter side, there were predictions of sales of seven million new cars next year, and increases in construction and sales of petroleum, chemicals, machinery and equipment and lead.

President Kennedy's chief economic adviser, Walter W. Heller, told the editors he expected a continued modest expansion of business despite mixed trends in the economy.

Kennedy sought to assure the editors that his administration isn't antibusiness but conceded he has found it difficult to keep all business men happy. His secretary of commerce, Luther H. Hodges, expressed the opinion that misunderstanding and recrimination between business and government has been receding in recent weeks.

The stock market took some sharp setbacks during the week and some Wall Street analysts said much of the blame was due to investors' worry over sluggishness of the economy.

Stock Sales Heavy
Stock sales for the week totaled 18,564,370 shares from 17,597,070 the week before and was the heaviest since the week ended Aug. 25 when 20,492,832 shares changed hands. Bond sales increased to $23,112,000 par value from $22,084,000 a week ago.

Senate and House conference committees reached agreement on a bill which would provide a $1.3 billion annual incentive for business to invest in machinery and equipment. It would allow businesses to charge off on their tax bills up to seven per cent of such spending.

A provision for withholding taxes on dividends and interest—which Kennedy wanted to counterbalance government income—was removed.

Living Cost Unchanged
The cost of living remained unchanged in August from the July level of 105.5 per cent of the 1957-59 average.

For the first time in more than eight years costs of medical care failed to rise. Robert J. Meyers, deputy labor statistics commissioner, forecast a resumption of the slight increase in the cost of living when the September figures are announced.

Steel production last week increased to 1,715,000 tons, up 2 per cent from the previous week but industry leaders scaled down their 1962 output predictions to 100 million tons or less.

An industry publication, Iron Age, reported that all but a few pockets of abnormally large inventory in the hands of consumers and steel warehouses should be erased by the end of October and that shipments and consumption should reach a fairly good balance.

Four steel companies — Bethlehem, Republic, Armco and National—swung the fight against a threat of citation for contempt of Congress for refusing to produce production cost data for the Senate Antitrust subcommittee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn. As a result, eight other companies which had agreed to supply the information no longer were required to do so. The four companies had argued to the Senate Judiciary Committee that disclosure of cost details would be helpful to domestic and foreign competition.

Automobile production continued to rise with an estimated 148,000 passenger cars coming off assembly lines as manufacturers pushed output of 1963 models with overtime work in some plants. Last week's total was 141,972. In the 1962 model year, which closed this week, 6,686,735 cars were built, a 24 per cent gain over 1961 and second only to 1955.

Dies in Crash

FRANKFORT, N.Y. (AP) — David A. Heath, 20, of Ulica, was killed Friday night when the automobile in which he was riding left Route 58 about a mile west of this Herkimer County village and struck a tree.

Approve $50,000 Stock Dividend At Kingston Bank

A. Raymond Atkins, president of The State of New York National Bank, Kingston, reported that a special meeting of the shareholders held September 28, to consider a proposal to increase the capital stock of the bank to $1,000,000 by the issuance of a $50,000 stock dividend was approved by the holders of 88 per cent of the outstanding shares.

Atkins advised the shareholders present at the meeting that the deposits of the bank have increased to more than $25,000,000, indicating a substantial growth during the 109 years that this institution has served the community.

Six Are Reported Hurt in Traffic By State Police

Six persons were injured in traffic accidents investigated by area State Police Friday and early today.

Thomas Brown, 19, of the U. S. Air Force assigned to the IBM, Kingston, and resident at 3714 South West Boulevard, Tulsa, Okla., was critically injured at 2 a. m. today when the car he was driving went out of control on Route 209, Town of Ulster, and crashed into a utility pole.

Brown was taken to Kingston Hospital suffering lacerations of the head and face, multiple abrasions and possible cerebral concussion. Kingston State Police said Brown has been staying at Rose Marie Cabins at Lake Katrine.

Troopers Richard Ryan and Edwin Conrad reported Brown was driving north on Route 209 and at a point about a half mile north of the Kingston City line, the vehicle left the east side of the highway, struck a pole and continued on and hit gasoline pumps at the Albany Avenue Shell Station. Brown was ejected from the vehicle.

At 2 a. m. today four persons were injured when the 1951 car in which they were riding hit a puddle of water and went out of control on Route 44-55 (Minneka Trail) and overturned, coming to rest on its top.

Ellenville State Police said the car was owned and operated by Myron Williams, 28, of Lake Minneka. He received minor injuries and was summoned to appear later today before Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppe, Town of Wawarsing, on a charge of speeding.

Injured in the accident besides the driver were three passengers, Susan Acuff, 18, Kerhonkson, daughters of the head, John Kelly, 21, of 65 Howland Avenue, neck injuries of the right hand and face.

The injured were taken to Veterans Memorial Hospital, treated and released.

Donald F. Brault Jr., 3, Highland, suffered a laceration of the forehead and was treated at St. Francis' Hospital, Friday afternoon. State Trooper John Salter, Highland, reported the child went down an embankment and in a car operated by Judith Rice, 19, of Clintondale. The mishap occurred on Chapel Hill Road, Highland.

Milton Man Fined On Conduct Charge

Released from the Dutchess County jail yesterday, Albert Oates, 41, of Milton Road, Milton, appeared before Justice of the Peace Curtis W. Northrip, Town of Marlborough, and pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct, according to Highland State Police.

Oates was fined $10 and received a 30-day suspended sentence.

Troopers G. W. Zappolo and P. F. Darling, Highland, late last night arrested Oates on a charge of malicious mischief. According to troopers, Oates reportedly went to the home of Agnes White, Route 9W, Highland, and kicked down a door. The woman fled to the home of a neighbor and summoned troopers.

Po'keepsie Man Held on Drunk Driving Charge

A 29-year-old Poughkeepsie man was arrested early today by Highland State Police on charges of driving an automobile while intoxicated, after his car went through the middle of the Highland Traffic circle.

Troopers said Landsey Morris, of 118 Garden Street, Poughkeepsie, was held in the Ulster County jail in lieu of $200 pending a hearing Monday before Justice of the Peace John O. Beaver, Town of Esopus.

State police said Morris drove his 1957 car across the traffic circle and knocked down several road signs and hit a light pole.

Water Contaminated by Radioactive Fallout?

Purify It With Flower Pot, Dad's Shirt Tail

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soil-filled flower pots, possibly aided by one of dad's old shirt-tails, offer an emergency home-style technique for purifying water contaminated by radioactive fallout from a nuclear attack, a government scientist said today.

Radiological chemist William J. Lacy of the federal Office of Civil Defense, who conceived the method, said the idea would be to pour the contaminated water through the pots where the clay soil would remove a very high percentage of the fission products contained in the water.

Tested by Army

Some sort of filter material—such as a towel or a shirt-tail—could be placed over the hole in the bottom of the pot to filter any particles of soil, he said. Then, the water could be purified against any bacteria present by "adding a few drops of a household bleach solution or tincture of iodine per quart of water."

Lacy disclosed in an interview that the flower-pot technique had actually been evaluated by Army Engineers during nuclear tests at the Nevada Proving Grounds last spring. He said they had found it 90 per cent effective in removing most of the radioactive materials, including much-feared strontium-90 and cesium-137.

He said that in an emergency a family might also use an ordinary pail which could be filled with sub-soil dug from around the house. Thereafter, much the same procedure of removing the fallout and filtering and disinfecting the water could be carried on.

Clay Another Method

Lacy told of these new possibilities for home-style defense against fallout when asked to expand on a report he made recently to the American Chemical Society on possibilities of using ordinary clay as a cheap, efficient method for purifying large-scale municipal water supplies of fallout contaminants following a nuclear attack.

The clay, he said, could be added to the water at a community's water-treatment plants and serve as a "scavenger" to remove most of the radioactive materials. The latter would be absorbed by the clay in sponge fashion, or cling to the surface of the clay.

"A few dump trucks full of clay a day should be sufficient for a city of about 25,000 people," he said, "and such a technique would be required for only the immediate post-attack period, say a matter of days to a few weeks, depending upon the amount of fallout."

He said the clay would tend to concentrate the fallout which originally would be widely dispersed in the water. Later, the radioactive clay could be disposed of by (1) burial beneath the ground, (2) storage in special protective tanks or (3) even spreading it on the surface of the ground in some isolated spot where there was no danger of seepage into a water system.

Applicable in Rural Areas
As for the home-style methods, he said these would be particularly applicable in rural areas where ponds or surface streams are sometimes used for water supplies.

But he said that might also be used in municipal areas in the event a break in the water mains necessitated turning to other sources of water, including even swimming pools and ponds.
